Don't Trust To Luck

That First $5,000

Chapter 2

It has been said that money is the root of all evil. That is nonsense. If it is sometimes made the servant of a wicked purpose, then the master and not the servant is to blame.

I am sometimes regarded as the apostle of pure materialism. The description is false. Humbly do I recognize the existence of values other than money values. Even so, I have never noticed that the creator of an artistic achievement becomes drowsy if it also proves to be financial success.

The maker of money has become unjustifiably suspect in recent times, not least in the eyes of men and women who would make money if they could.

MUCH HYPOCRISY

To win a sweepstake or a big dividend on the pools is considered justified, but to amass a fortune by hard work which creates opportunities of life and happiness for thousands is considered wicked by silly politicians and foolish journalists. There is a lot of hypocrisy.

FATHER TESTIFIES

Duncan Tragedy Told to Jury

DUNCAN, B.C. (CP)—The father of an 18-year-old boy found dead in the woods testified at a coroner's inquest Tuesday that his son had been depressed for some days.

He said he had told his son New Year's Day that if he did not improve he would have to get out.

Lawrence Meyer said his son Larry would get up in the morning with a sour face and nothing could be done with him. He stated his son was "overly smart—well up in school work, prominent in cadet work and popular with his friends."

But he had been moody and depressed, "so much so that I was always after him."

Donna DeMille, 14-year-old girl friend of the youth, testified Larry came to her home about 11 a.m. New Year's Day and gave her a note, with instructions not to read it until after breakfast.

She said he "was white as a ghost."

The note, read by Constable Kenneth Sutherland, said: "Donna, I love you. By the time you read this I will be dead. We'll meet there sometime."

He enclosed a repair ticket, along with a $10 bill, and asked Donna to get his watch and keep it "for the rest of your life to remember me by, darling."

In the note, the youth, also made his will, leaving everything to Donna.

The jury verdict was "that Larry Meyer died of self-inflicted injuries from a 16-gauge shotgun."

Union, Govt. Hit in U.K. Rail Dispute

3-Man Court Urges Fair, Adequate Wage

LONDON (UP)—A three-man "court of inquiry" today urged the government to pay workers on its nationalized railways a "fair and adequate" wage.

The government-appointed board "also urged the union to call off its walkout of 400,000 men, scheduled for midnight Sunday and resume negotiations 'in an atmosphere free from the menace of strike action.'"

Both the rail union and the government transport commission were criticized by the report. "The court said the union 'acted improperly' in breaking off wage talks in the first place."

It also said the commission "erred" in claiming it couldn't pay a wage boost because Britain's government-owned rail lines are required by law to break even.

If the government wants to run the railroads it must pay the railwaymen a "fair and adequate" wage, the report said. The railwaymen claim their pay lags behind workers in other industries.

Labor Minister Sir Walter Monckton called the heads of the National Union of Railwaymen and the Transport Commission to meetings in an effort to get negotiations resumed.

Jim Campbell, chief of the railway union, said the board issued a "good report" and hinted the strike may be called off if the government follows through on the recommendations.

In effect, the report threw the railway wage problem into the lap of Prime Minister Winston Churchill's government which may now have to decide whether to subsidize the railroads.

The court completed its report 24 hours ahead of schedule, giving the government four full days to head off the strike.

Both parties agreed to the adjournment to permit Mr. Mazey to attend a regular executive board meeting of the international union in Detroit.

Negotiations will resume Friday afternoon and may continue during the week-end.

Calm 15-Year-Old Quesnel Girl Tells Events Leading to Murder

BOYS' BOAT WAS HIT BY VESSEL SAYS RCMP

VANCOUVER (CP)—The 14-foot boat which carried four Vancouver boys to their deaths last week was almost certainly hit by a bigger vessel, the RCMP reported today.

Tests on red paint found on wreckage of the boat washed ashore in North Burnaby showed it was marine anti-fouling paint. This is used on ships but rarely on shoreline installations.

The boys, Donald MacLeod, and his brother Ian; Wally Wittwer and Joe Toth, left here on a camping trip Dec. 26. The wrecked boat was found three days later.

The boys were on their way to Indian River, 18 miles northeast of here.

Hammar skjold Dines With Chou En Lai

TOKYO (CP)—Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjold of the United Nations, seeking freedom for 11 American airmen and other UN prisoners of Red China, dined privately to night with Chou En-lai, premier and foreign minister, and Vice-Foreign Minister Chang Han-fu, Peiping radio said.

Communist broadcasts heard in Tokyo reported only sketchy details of the UN chief's arrival this afternoon and made no mention of his mission which was prompted by an

NEW WESTMINSTER, B.C. (CP)—A calm, 15-year-old girl in supreme court here Tuesday told how a man accused of the strangulation murder of her 12-year-old friend offered them a ride home the night the other girl disappeared.

Giving testimony in the trial of Lawrence Bryan Vincent, accused of murdering Donna Lee Corbett, was the Corbett girl's companion, blonde Sharon Patricia Bourne.

The girl told how she and the Donna rode a horse to a carnival near their home in Quesnel, about 450 miles north of Vancouver, on Sept. 10, 1953.

She said they had met the suspect when he offered the girls passes to the carnival if they would let him ride the horse. He took his ride, said the girl, and gave them the passes.

Later in the day when the girls saw Vincent again he offered to drive them home because it wasn't safe to "go home alone."

"He offered us more passes and later gave us each 25 cents instead of the passes," they went home alone.

The girls went to the carnival the following day, and the Bourne girl got a job in a candy booth. She couldn't find the Corbett girl, who was found strangled with a shoe lace four days later.

She returned later with the Corbett girl's father, Larry, and looked for her. They questioned Vincent, but he denied seeing the girl.

Another circus worker testified that Vincent had borrowed his car shortly before 4.30 the afternoon the girl disappeared.

Vancouver's Unemployed Hit 25,837

VANCOUVER (CP)—Vancouver's jobless total climbed to 25,837 on Dec. 30, an increase of 498 over the same day in 1953, the National Employment Service reported today. The total included 21,000 men and 4,837 women.

Leaders of business and industry will meet with the Vancouver Board of Trade today to work out a program aimed at combatting the unemployment situation in the province.

The management representatives will draw up a comprehensive report of industrial conditions to be presented to Labor Minister Wicks.

In earlier conferences with the minister, special committees were set up to discuss the jobless situation in each of the province's major industries.

Trades and Labor Council Tuesday night rejected a mass meeting of the city's unemployed on the grounds that it could serve no useful purpose.

The meeting was proposed by the Electrical Workers' Union, but the 70 delegates to the TLC met rejected it after only one objection from the floor.

Proposes To Build Columbia River Dam With Public Funds

CASTLEGAR, B.C. (CP)—B.C. government now is considering a new proposal for a $30,000,000 storage dam on the Arrow Lake system under which B.C. would build the dam and receive an extra $600,000 cash return in addition to the 43,000 kilowatts and $135,000 in taxes and rentals previously agreed upon, Lands Minister Robert Sommers told a public meeting Tuesday night.

Since the Kaiser Aluminum and Chemical Corp. appear unable to finance the dam at less than 75 per cent and the B.C. Government could do it for 4.1 per cent, he said, the new proposal is for the provincial government to undertake construction and receive extra returns from Kaiser.

The company seeks water storage to increase production of power at American hydro stations during low flow periods on the Columbia.

Province Would Own Dam

Under the new proposal, B.C. would receive not less than $2,000,000 a year in power and cash for 50 years, Mr. Sommers said.

The province would own the dam but the Kaiser interests would pay taxes on it at prevailing rates.

Mr. Sommers told a capacity audience that disposition of natural resources, including water power, falls wholly and solely under the jurisdiction of the province and the B.C. Government will fight for its rights in the Kaiser deal.

He said many seem to be opposed to the construction of the dam because it will benefit the U.S. as well as B.C.

Such an attitude could lead to retaliatory measures by the U.S. and bring B.C. economy to a standstill, since the U.S. is B.C.'s best customer.

He repeated previous statements that the proposed dam would not in any way detract from any other development on the Columbia but would merely put to use water which would flow downstream anyway.

No Decision on Water Level

He said no decision has been reached yet on how high the water will be raised by the dam, but it is the government's intention that it will not be above the normal high water mark.

The Kaiser interests will be required to compensate for any "economic value disturbed" including rebuilding of flooded beaches, but such disturbance will be kept to a minimum by filling the storage basin at the latest possible date.

Mr. Sommers discussed briefly the working plan of the Columbia Development Co. for a forest management license in the Arrow Lakes area, expressing the hope that this development "will come to fruition shortly."

He said there has been no decision on the company's working plan yet but discussions are to be held shortly, possibly next week.

Regarding the choice of a route for a Cascade-Columbia River highway connection, Mr. Sommers reported no decision yet.

"The final route will be chosen entirely on the basis of economic factors involved," he said.

New Plan Expected to Get Cool Reception in Ottawa

By TOM GOULD
Times Legislative Reporter

Although no immediate reaction is available from federal government officials, observers here feel Lands Minister Sommers' new proposal for a government-constructed dam at Castlegar Narrows will receive the same cool reception in Ottawa as the original proposal.

Ottawa has announced legislation will be introduced at the spring session of the Commons to settle the Kaiser deal. It is expected the legislation will also bear on the new proposal.

The federal government has control over international water flow, through pipelines or conduits. This control will be broadened to cover regulated water flow through streambeds.

Ottawa objected to the Kaiser deal on grounds it interfered with long-range development of the Columbia River water, and did not give B.C. sufficient returns for the power generated.

Most recent evidence of Ottawa's views on Columbia River power development was the announcement two weeks ago an investigation will be carried out this summer into the economic feasibility of diverting Columbia water to the Fraser River system.

Resources Minister Jean Lesage said several billion kilowatt hours of additional power could be produced annually by a Columbia-to-Fraser diversion. The gigantic development under study would force Columbia water, at the "Big Bend," where the northwest-flowing river turns south to the U.S., into Summit Lake.

Mr. Lesage said waste waters of the Columbia could be used to "firm up" potential storage areas on the Thompson and Fraser.

He said maximum development of power sites along these rivers will be possible only through the use of water diverted from the Columbia.

B.C. officials said the proposal, if found feasible, would probably have an important effect on any development on Lower Arrow Lakes such as the Kaiser dam.

From there the Columbia water would travel down the Eagle and South Thompson Rivers to the Fraser. Hydro-power would be generated at sites on the Thompson and Fraser.

B.C. officials said they welcomed the federal study as a means of determining the most efficient way of utilizing the province's abundant power potential.

But there are some doubts, they said, Mr. Lesage said "The Fraser River salmon industry will be protected." Officials here said they do not have sufficient information on the Ottawa plan to see how this could be accomplished.

The federal announcement did not mention the power sites on the Fraser and Thompson Rivers which are to be examined.

MINISTER TELLS TRAIL GRANTS WILL CONTINUE

NELSON (CP)—Wesley D. Black, minister of municipal affairs, said in a telephone conversation from Victoria with Mayor Joseph Kary that he knew of no government plan to do away with the motor vehicle grant to municipalities.

Civic officials, worried by a statement by Mayor E. C. Fletcher of Trail that the grant would be discontinued, decided to phone the minister. The city receives about $16,000.

Mayor Fletcher said that the provincial government licenses grant to municipalities would be discontinued.

Trail council has drawn up a resolution protesting the move to be presented to an executive meeting of the UBCM Jan. 7.

There's nuthin' new 't' this idea o' taxpayers financin' Mr. Kaiser. Taxpayers in th' U.S. hev bin doin' it fer years.

DON'T TRUST TO LUCK

For this reason the money master will care little for leaving vast wealth to his descendants. He knows that they would be better men for going down stripped into the struggle, with no inheritance but that of brains and character.

Wealth without the wish, brains or power to use it is too often the medium through which men pamper the flesh with good living and the mind with idleness, until death, operating through the liver, hurries the fortunate youth into an early grave. The inheritance tax should have no terrors for the millionaire.

The value of money is, therefore, first in the striving for it and then in the use of it. The ambition itself is a fine one, but how is it to be achieved.

RULES FOR SUCCESS

I would lay down certain definite rules for the guidance of the young man who, starting from scratch, is determined to go on to great success.

1. The key which opens the door of success is the trading instinct, the knowledge and sense of the real value of any article. Without it a man need not trouble to enter business at all, but if he possesses it even in a rudimentary form he can cultivate it in the early days when the mind is still plastic until it develops beyond all recognition. The practice of valuing articles of commerce becomes a subconscious habit.

The young man who will walk through life developing the capacity for determining values, and then correcting his judgment by his information, will help himself on the way that leads to success in business.

TRUE ECONOMY

2. But supposing that a young man has acquired this sense of values, he may yet ruin himself before he comes to the fruition of his talent if he will not practice economy.

By economy I mean the economic conduct of his business. Examine your profit and loss account before you go out to conquer the world, and then go out for conquest—if the account justifies the enterprise.

Too many men spend their time in laying down "pipelines" for future profits which may not arrive or arrive only for some newcomer who has taken over the business.

There is nothing like sticking to one line of business until you have mastered it. A man who has learned how to conduct a single industry at a profit has conquered the obstacles which stand in the way of success in the larger world of enterprise.

3. Do not try to cut too wide a swath. This rule is the most important of all. Many promising young men have fallen into ruin from the neglect of this simple principle.

It is so easy for ambition to launch men out prematurely into daring schemes for which they have neither the resources nor the experience.

LEARN TO READ MINDS

Acquire the knowledge of values, practice economy and learn to read the minds of men, and your technique will then be perfected and ready for use in wider fields. The instinct for values, the habit of economy, the technique of business are only three forms of the supreme quality of that judgment which is success.

For these reasons it is the first $5,000,000 which counts. There is the real struggle, the test of character and the warranty of success.

Youth and strength are given to us in that first struggle and a man must feel those early deals right down to the pit of his stomach if he is going to be a great man of business. They must shake the very fibre of his being as the conception of a great picture shakes an artist.

But with the first five thousand made, he can advance with greater freedom and take affairs in his stride. He will have the confidence of experience and can paint with a big brush because all the details of affairs are now familiar to him. With this assured technique nothing will check the career.

MAY YET FAIL

Such in effect is the career of the great captains of industry. Yet the man who attains a fortune by the practice of these rules may fail of real achievement and happiness. He may not be able to recognize that the qualities of the aspirant are not exactly the qualities of the man who has arrived. The sense of general responsibility must supersede the spirit of private enterprise.

Money which is striven for brings with it the real qualities in life. Here are the counters which mark character and brains. The money brain is, in the modern world, the shrewdest brain.

Why? Because that which the greatest number of men strive for will produce the fiercest competition of intellect.

I once considered the money brain to be not only the shrewdest brain but also the supreme brain. This is no longer my view. The money brain relies, more than I once thought, on experience, rejecting what has failed in the past and repeating what has succeeded.

Politics are for the few; they are a game, a fancy, or an inheritance.

Leaving out the man of genius who flares up, perhaps once or twice in a century, the amount of ability which enables a man to cut a very respectable figure in a cabinet is extraordinarily low, compared with that demanded in the world of industry and finance. The politician will never believe this truth, but it is the truth.

MAN OF ACTION BEST

There are many men, attractive, popular, able to argue a case with eloquence and skill. But when it comes to carrying out their ideas they are impotent. They lack the power of action. Such men usually excel in public life. As men of business, as administrators, they are not successful.

Consider the converse. There is often on a staff a man with no ability to present a case. When required to do so he becomes confused, even incoherent and embarrassed. But confront him with a situation requiring action and he is magnificent. He shows himself a man to be relied upon in the hour of crisis. In business a man with the capacity for action is worth any number of talkers.

The battles of the marketplace are real duels, on which realities of life and fortune or poverty and even fame depend. Here men fight with a precision behind them, not a pension of $10,000 a year. The young men who go down into that arena must win their battles by no man's favor. But youth can triumph; it has the resolution when the mind is plastic to gain that judgment which experience gives.

My advice to the young man of today is simply this: money is nothing but the fruit of resolution and intellect applied to the affairs of the world. To an unshakable resolution fortunes will oppose no bar.

Bennett Hits Federal Grain Freight Rates

Premier Bennett today blasted the federal government's action in reducing grain freight rates to Eastern ports, cutting the Vancouver advantage.

"Where we have a natural advantage, the federal government takes it away from us," said the premier.

The premier said in effect, that in the case of grain rates, Vancouver's geographical advantage was negated by the reduction of rates to eastern sea ports.

He said the federal government discriminated against B.C. in awarding defense contracts, "because we have a higher standard of living, and higher wages."

"The federal government taxes wages here to a greater extent," because the higher the wage, the higher the percentage of tax, the premier said.

Wine Import Alarms Island Berry Growers

A special meeting of Saanich Fruit Growers' Association directors will be held Friday to discuss the proposed import of California wines for sale in B.C. liquor stores.

President H. C. Oldfield said today the association considers the import plan, announced Tuesday by Premier W. A. C. Bennett, as "a matter of deep concern."

He said the executive would probably plan an immediate protest to the provincial government. Association members sell one-third of their loganberry crop to local wineries.

"Canada is not a wine drinking country, so the more competition there is the less we will sell," said Mr. Oldfield.

He said the Liquor Control Board now stocks "about 70 different kinds of wines" and the association feels that is sufficient to handle the demand.

"A good deal of our loganberry industry has been built up on sales to local wineries," said Mr. Oldfield. He said the import of California wines would affect future berry requirements of Island wine producers.

Mr. Oldfield said grape growers in the Okanagan would also be adversely affected by the government's policy change.

FIRST

to work with Canadians

Yesterday... today... and tomorrow

Canadians have counted on the Bank of Montreal for 137 years — from the days when our pioneer forefathers did business by barter. Through the story of 'My Bank's' development you can trace the rise of a mighty country — Canada.

Canada's first bank, founded in 1817, has witnessed and participated in the bold and exciting ventures of the Canadian saga. From the day when its first office opened in Montreal to this day, the Bank of Montreal has been first to work with Canadians in every walk of life... pioneering with the pioneers... consolidating with the established... helping with service, money and advice wherever and whenever it could.

There have been many 'firsts' in the history of the B of M — 'firsts' which have played their role in the development of our nation.

The B of M financed Canada's first inland waterway — the Lachine Canal — built between 1821 and 1825 to by-pass the Lachine Rapids above Montreal.

Canada's first railway, from St. Johns to Laprairie in Quebec, was stoutly supported by the B of M, whose president headed up the railway. That was in 1836.

The B of M placed its resources behind Canada's first transcontinental railway — the C.P.R. — which opened up the West. Following closely in the trail of the new railroad, the B of M was the first permanent bank west of the Great Lakes. And after the railroad reached Vancouver, the B of M followed with its first office there within two months — oldest on the Pacific coast.

TODAY

Today, as always, pioneering is part of the B of M tradition. In 1952, at Kitimat — site of the Aluminum Company's enormous B.C. development — the Bank founded the first banking office in the community. At Seven Islands, terminal of Quebec's great iron-ore project, the B of M opened the first full-time banking office in 1948. And three months ago, at Mille Roches, near Cornwall, Ont., it founded the first banking office to serve the gigantic St. Lawrence Seaway & Power project when it opened a branch for the convenience of seaway workers.

The B of M was the first chartered bank to bring drive-in banking to Canada — first in the West, in 1950 — then in the East, in 1952. The Bank expanded its auto-banking facilities in 1954 when it opened the country's first curb-teller at London, Ont.

And last year the B of M was first to take up Canada's newest banking service by making the first Mortgage Loans under the National Housing Act — in both Eastern and Western Canada.

TOMORROW

And wherever, whenever Canadians seek to extend the horizons of our country's future, Canada's First Bank will be with them — ready and willing to work with citizens in every walk of life, as it has done since 1817. These are no idle words, as history shows.

President Dwight Eisenhower's "State of the Union" address to the U.S. Congress will be carried on television. The speech will be telecast direct from Washington and carried by KOMO-TV, channel 4, and KTNB-TV, channel 11, at 9:30 a.m. Thursday. Most NBC radio outlets will also carry the address.

Canada Will Ask U.S. To Ease Trade Curbs

Future of GATT May Hinge on Talks Scheduled in Washington Thursday

By HAROLD MORRISON
OTTAWA (CP)—Canada will appeal to the United States Thursday to thrust aside her policy of import restrictions in a move to avert a crisis threatening to weaken and possibly destroy a seven-year trade pact encompassing 80 per cent of the Free World's international trade.

The appeal will be made by Trade Minister Howe, External Affairs Minister Pearson and Finance Minister Harris in a special Washington conference with State Secretary Dulles, Agricultural Secretary Benson and Treasury Secretary Humphrey of the U.S.

Authorities say that on the Washington talks may hinge the fate of the 37-country General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade.

Negotiations to tighten the pact and reduce import curbs that hamper world trade now are going on at Geneva.

Mr. Howe had a quick look at the Geneva talks last month and after discussions with United

AUSTRALIA MAY WITHDRAW FROM GATT

SYDNEY (Reuters)—Commerce and Agriculture Minister John McEwan said today Australia may withdraw from the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade.

He added on his return from the GATT conference at Geneva that Australia would be justified in thinking of freeing itself from all or part of the agreement unless members took a "more realistic" view of Australia's problems.

'TIT-FOR-TAT' BAN TERMED 'CHILDISH'

Russian Tourists Will Find U.S. Weird, Wonderful Land

By United Press
Americans were somewhat puzzled today over a state department order declaring parts of the country off limits to Russians.

The ban kept Russians out of some pretty odd places, such as Russians were allowed to roam as they will through practically all of New York, but were ordered to stay out of Brooklyn. They were banned from Moscow, Iowa, and Moscow, Idaho, but were welcome to pay a visit to Moscow, Me.

a South Dakota county which no longer exists.

It would also force a Soviet citizen who wanted to sample some New Orleans night life to drop into the city by parachute.

Even more puzzling, civil defense officials said, was why Russians were allowed to wander in some highly industrialized and strategic areas, while vast stretches of prairie and farm land were ruled out of bounds.

In Washington, state department officials explained that the order covering parts of 39 states and about 27 per cent of the nation was framed on a simple tit-for-tat basis.

Russia bars Americans from about 30 per cent of the Soviet, they said, but allows travel in such apparently strategic areas as Stalingrad, Kiev and Kharkov.

Whether the purpose of the state department order was strategic or psychological, most officials in off limits cities were willing to do along with it.

There were a few murmurs of protest, however.

In off-limits Philadelphia, president Gaylor P. Harnewell of the University of Philadelphia said "it sounds just a bit childish—surely there could be no harm in having a few Russians visit Philadelphia."

At Austin, Tex., Sheriff T. O. Lang said the idea of the ban seems "pretty far fetched" and he couldn't figure out how he could keep Russians out of banned territory.

"They'd have to be under constant surveillance, unless you just took them at their word on where they'd go," Lang said.

The cities of New Orleans and San Francisco were both declared in bounds for the Russians, but the counties covering the identical territory were officially taboo.

Thus, Russians were both allowed and forbidden to visit the cities.

In the case of New Orleans, officials figured the order applying to the city took precedence. But, since the surrounding parishes (counties) were outside of bounds, a Russian would probably have to parachute in.

Then there was the case of Armstrong County in South Dakota. It disappeared a year ago when a neighboring county annexed it.

What's more, South Dakotans couldn't figure why a Communist or any one else would want to tread the ground of old Armstrong County. The 325-mile area is populated by 52 humans and herds of cattle, jack rabbits, coyotes and grouse.

The Russians themselves weren't talking about the state department order.

At the United Nations, a Soviet delegation spokesman answered queries with the words: "Everybody is out to lunch."

Democrats Take Over From GOP

WASHINGTON (AP)—Congress, back under Democratic control after two years of Republican rule, convened today with the new majority party talking of co-operation with the Eisenhower administration but set no push probing fingers into many of its activities.

The Democrats were already shaping up inquiries into the administration's handling of security risks among government employees. Other investigations are on tap for later.

TRADE PACT

Representative Sam Rayburn of Texas, the incoming Democratic House of Representatives speaker, has said that body will go to work first on Eisenhower's expected proposal for a three-year extension of the Reciprocal Trade Agreements Act, together with additional tariff-cutting powers. The Democrats in general likely will support that proposal.

President Eisenhower will come before the legislators Thursday to present its legislative program in the customary State of the Union message. Some parts of it already have been disclosed informally.

TAX CUTS

Among them: A new military manpower program, keyed to building up a big ready reserve of trained young men; postponement of tax cuts scheduled for spring under present law on business income, liquor, tobacco, automobiles and some other items.

Preliminary to the formal convening of congress at noon, many of the members attended a special church service with the president. Eisenhower on his part has pledged co-operation with the Democratic-run Congress. And such party leaders as Senator Lyndon Johnson and Speaker Sam Rayburn have promised the Democrats will not oppose simply for the sake of opposition.

Johnson said he and his colleagues have "rejected the theory that it is the duty of the opposition to oppose merely for opposition's sake."

School Board Seat For W. H. Golby

Oak Bay School Trustee W. H. Golby, who failed to file nomination papers before the municipal election deadline last month and was disqualified, won his seat anyway by appointment Tuesday night.

The school board also elected Mr. Golby vice-chairman by acclamation without waiting for formalities of provincial approval and swearing-in ceremonies. Walter P. Jeune was re-elected chairman.

Mr. Golby, who has served on the board for six years, was called out of town suddenly on nomination day and forgot until too late that he hadn't filed his nomination papers with the returning officer. No one else filed either.

In such a circumstance, the board is empowered to appoint a new member. His appointment was unanimously endorsed at the first 1955 meeting and a few minutes later he was elected vice-chairman.

Formal approval, by the provincial department of education, must be obtained for the appointment and Mr. Golby must be sworn to office. But he is expected to be seated for a meeting next Monday.

Mr. Jeune, 16-year school board veteran, was re-elected chairman by acclamation. A restorer of antique paintings in private life, he served first on the Saanich school board prior to unification in 1946.

COMMITTEES NAMED

Trouble at Geneva

MR. C. D. HOWE IS KNOWN AS Canada's number one optimist. His pessimism about the future of the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade is therefore disturbing. According to Mr. Howe, the current Geneva conference, called to revise GATT, is going badly and may fail. If that happened, if GATT collapsed, the free world could quickly slide down a slippery slope into trade restrictions, economic warfare and poverty.

Only the Communists surely can desire the end of GATT. While far from perfect, like all human institutions, this agreement was largely responsible for preventing world-wide economic chaos after the war. By reducing tariffs substantially and establishing certain rules of fair trade, it has benefited all its signatories, none more than Canada.

The time has come, as Mr. Howe said in Geneva recently, not to whittle down but to expand GATT, to reduce tariffs further and to establish an agency which, like the International Monetary Fund, can strictly enforce the contract. The time also has come, Mr. Howe said, when various nations like the United States, should cease their minor but irritating violations of the contract, as in the case of import quotas.

Interfering With the Courts?

VICTORIA'S MAYOR IS TOO vague and too brief in his explanation for appointing a special standing committee on the administration of justice.

"Such a committee," he says, "while it may not have to function often, is a good thing to safeguard the people. One might think, however, that the police commissioners should have this duty delegated to them; and I think that would be a step forward in the administration of justice, but until such time as such authority is vested in the police commission, the council members should concern themselves and look after this matter which is one of their duties."

What does the mayor mean? Does he mean that it is part of the duty of an alderman to interfere in the administration of justice? If he does, the chief magistrate's own legal training appears to have been forgotten.

Canadians are jealous of the independence and integrity of their courts. They are unwilling to see any political agency, be it a body elected to a council or to a senior government, attempt to influence the courts. The courts must remain above such interference. If they are subject to influence, they fail in their cardinal duty—the fair, unbiased trial of anyone brought before them.

It is inconceivable that a former city prosecutor, a man of long experience in police and other courts, should harbor any misconceptions of

The possibility of GATT's collapse is especially difficult to understand at this time when the United States is about to reconsider its whole policy of foreign trade. President Eisenhower has assured both parties in the Congress that he will throw his whole weight behind the Randall Report, which proposes a systematic reduction of American tariffs, the simplification of customs procedures and an increase in American imports.

While such a momentous change in American policy is under debate it would be folly of the worst sort to consider any weakening in the Geneva agreements. And even if Mr. Eisenhower fails to get all he asks from the Congress GATT, as it stands, is not only the foundation of trade in the free world but probably the only alternative to a state of tariff anarchy, with resulting political strains not difficult to imagine.

Perhaps Mr. Howe is too pessimistic. Perhaps his statement was deliberately issued to warn the Geneva conference against the protectionist forces in various nations which would welcome failure. Whatever Mr. Howe's intentions may be, Canada stands by GATT and, as the world's third trading nation, urges its expansion. Will its trading partners heed this sound advice?

the right or duty of aldermen to oversee procedures of the bench. The mayor and aldermen are charged with the responsibility to enact certain by-laws. The court decides whether they are legal or not. If they are legal, it is the duty of the magistrate or judge to try cases under them. But trial can never be what it is supposed to be in British law if a watch-dog system is imposed upon the court by any elective body.

Courts are not, of course, above criticism. Due and proper procedures have been evolved to correct any mistakes they may make. Those procedures do not extend to the establishment of council committees, nor to police commissions.

To suggest that special authority be vested in a police commission to exert certain pressures on a court is to propose an arrangement entirely too cosy.

What kind of justice could be expected from a court which kept half its mind on the evidence presented to it, and the other half on the possible attitude of a police commission, or council committee, might take toward the administration of justice?

Perhaps the mayor has something entirely different in mind. If he has, he had better say so. His limited explanation to date seems to be merely an indication of an impulse to interfere where he has no right to interfere.

The council would be better advised to stick to its own knitting. Attempting to stitch up the administration of justice is not its job.

Mr. Bennett Lifts the Bar

PREMIER BENNETT DESERVES full marks for lifting the British Columbia ban against the importation of California wines.

Other governments should have taken that action years ago. Where they failed, Mr. Bennett has shown the courage to remove a discrimination odious alike to consumers here and to our American neighbors.

As a result of this decision the purchaser should shortly be able to buy the wine of his own choosing at a price to fit a modest pocket—a right which this newspaper has championed over the years.

It is to be presumed, of course, that California wine will be imported under conditions equivalent to those prevailing for other wines. Any effort to rig the price in a way to discriminate against the California product would destroy the honesty of the Government's policy.

In lifting the barriers, Mr. Bennett has given effect to another of the Stevens commission recommendations. Whether or not vintages from the south prove popular is of no particular consequence. Provided they are allowed to compete fairly with other bottled goods on the Government store shelves, no complaint can be registered.

Quality Names in Cheap Covers

A FEW WEEKS AGO, WHILE Victoria was observing one of its numerous "Book Weeks," a distinguished Canadian publisher urged a local audience to invest more heavily in books. He admitted his personal commercial interest in the trade and justified his advocacy by indicating the broader problems that would arise for intelligent people if publishers were forced out of business.

Rather wistfully he hoped that more private budgets in 1955 would carry items of $100 or more for book purchases during the year.

To many Canadians, $100 a year for books seems exorbitant. They are not conditioned to spending that amount of money on food for the mind.

On the other hand, in small outlays at the newsstand, they can run through a very considerable sum for volumes of varying grades in the course of a year. In many instances, the product they are offered leaves much to be desired. In too many instances the present-day soft-cover book seeks to compensate by the lushness of the female figure on its jacket for the emaciation of its literary content.

There have always been, of course, some excellent titles in the paper-backs. For years the discriminating reader could find good material in such editions as Penguins. Now, by recent reports, U.S. publishers have brought out new series of high quality. They are the product of thoughtful publishers who have recognized a substantial and relatively unexpected market on this continent.

That market resides in the growing number of college and university people who, through exposure to good reading in class and lecture room, have well developed critical senses and who prefer to read quality books when they are not too expensive.

To this group the new American publishers make a direct appeal. The volumes, attractively finished, sell up to, or slightly over, a dollar. They include some of the "highbrow" authors and they do not insult the intellectual.

It is questionable if they will assist the Canadian publisher who urged Victorians to buy more hard-covers. But at least they should make the riches of good reading more available to a very substantial market. They should do much to offset the idea that paperbacks depend for sales on a cover picture subordinating cerebration to chest development.

The Co-Existence Path

BOHN COLLINS

Chips

"HAVE just come frae a wedding or a funeral, a christening or something of the kind," Harry Lauder sang once, in one of his better songs. "Something in the Bottle for the Morning." And I am singing it now. Only I remember where I've been. I've been at a christening. It was quite definitely a christening. Aye, and I have witnesses.

Further, I can recall only too distinctly what the clergyman said while choosing a few well-chosen words of quite unnecessary comment. (This is becoming the devil of a world for comment, and for opinions of all sorts.) This well-meaning clerk in holy orders talked a great deal (over a short period) about the gift of a baby as if it were a gift of a cocker spaniel or a gift of a pair of boots. Or a tip. So that, according to him, one could talk about "MY baby" as if it were "my hat" or "my pipe." As if the baby didn't belong mostly to himself and to God, with the parents acting only as trustees. Trustees in a peculiar and privileged position... but in danger of abusing their special and valuable and enjoyable rights.

NOW the parson may have been talking very loosely and have meant little or nothing of what he appeared to say. It is a common fault. We all have it, and if we had to preach every few minutes we'd probably develop it to a frightful extent, and even think it a virtue because of this theory: "What I say means little to me, it is true, but perhaps it may do good to somebody, somewhere, somehow." But at least he seemed to mean it, and instead of laughing to myself, as a wiser man would, I managed to grow indignant for a moment or two. Which was absurd, because neither the baby nor its parents were paying much attention anyhow.

C. S. Lewis's "The Screwtape Letters" has a good page or two on the subject of human notions about property, including one human owning another. And by the way, I may have quoted this book as often as three times in 1954. But this is now 1955, so that you can't reproach me with overdoing it (yet) at any time in this whole current year. So just contain yourself, will you? Those of you who have the gift of continence.

LEWIS says "The humans are always putting up claims to ownership which sound equally funny in Heaven and in Hell, and we must keep them doing so." You must remember that it is a Devil who is writing these letters from his office in hell (which I spell with a small H and Lewis spells with a capital). "We produce this sense of ownership not only by pride but by confusion. We teach them not to notice the different series of the possessive pronoun... the finely graded differences that run from 'my boots' through 'my dog,' 'my servant,' 'my wife,' 'my father,' 'my master' and 'my country,' to 'my God'.

"They can be taught to reduce all these senses to that of 'my boots,' the 'my' of ownership. Even in the nursery a child can be taught to mean 'my teddy-bear' NOT the old imagined recipient of affection to whom it stands in a special relation, but 'the bear I can pull to pieces if I like.' And at the other end of the scale we have taught men to say 'my God' in a sense not really very different from 'my boots,' meaning 'the God on whom I have a claim for my distinguished services and whom I exploit from the pulpit... the God I have done a corner in.' And all the time the joke is that the word 'mine' in its fully possessive sense cannot be uttered by a human being about anything."

THESE words of Lewis's could be badly misapplied of course, destroying the legitimate and necessary feeling of owning a small bit of earth—a secret, a love, a few instants in time, and the things one has made oneself. God can take away the things you have made yourself, but nobody else can. Any man worth calling a man feels he is here to make something, and he would be less a man if he didn't feel he owned it afterwards. Or owned a little share of it. There are good sorts of ownership, just as there are a few good sorts of pride... very rare, and perhaps all the better for that!

Still, if you read Lewis's words properly they can be useful enough. And they are (in my opinion) especially useful concerning the child who did help to make yourself and whose mind you did help to form yourself. I think you need to be reminded... I know I do... that quite apart from belonging to God, he belongs partly to great-grandfathers he never heard of and partly to great-grandsons he will never meet, and also he belongs to himself. And it is only at your peril, and his, that you tamper with his ownership of himself.

THE risk must be taken, or he would remain an animal. But it should be taken delicately and modestly and with the eyes and mind wide open. And I should think the first step is to ask what the "gift" means, and what "my" and "mine" mean.

This does not mean you will be handing him over to the state. Today most states imagine that children and grown-ups are state property all right, and a frightening number of grown-ups agree. Including many sociologists, teachers, politicians, psychologists, and a surprising number of preachers, whose religion should point all the other way, to the fact that the individual does matter. But getting rid of a little momism will not produce state-ism. On the contrary, it should make him more his own boss who makes a few decisions on his own. A parent can still indicate what the decisions are going to entail! And those with the worst sense of ownership are those who refuse to give a clue... having no clue themselves.

Asia Prepares To Speak

BY WALTER LIPPMAN, From Washington

AS the old year was coming to an end, there became visible something of the shape of things to come. I know that in a venture of this sort we are all of us like the blind men in the fable who were trying to describe the shape of the elephant from what they could learn by touching it. But there have been three stories in the past three weeks which, put together, foretell something big and important that we shall be running into.

One is the crisis of indecision in the French Parliament on the role of France in Europe and in the world. The heart of this crisis has been that the democratic Assembly is so divided in its aims and so contradictory in its views that it cannot render a firm judgment about the vital interests of France. This malady of the French democracy is not confined to France. Our own Congress, for example, is in a similar state of deadlock and confusion over our policy in the Far East. The members of Congress are so divided in their own minds, they are so committed by the many statements and speeches they have made, that they cannot go beyond saying no to those who want to make war and no to those who do not.

INCREASING TENSION

The second story is that Moscow and Peking have for the time being returned to the tactic of increasing rather than relaxing the tension. This is understandable enough in regard to Europe in the face of the Western push to re-arm Germany. But the German problem is not a sufficient explanation of why Peking has also chosen this time to increase the tension by such acts as the conviction of the American airmen. For when Peking made this decision the American policy in the Far East was undergoing the important modification of limiting the Nationalists' practical aims to the defense of Formosa and the Pescadores. This was a decisive step in withdrawing American support from counter-revolution in China. Yet Peking chose that moment to exacerbate the relations not only with the United States but with the European nations who fought with the United States in Korea.

The third big story at the year's end is probably the biggest of all. It is the decision at Jakarta by the Prime Ministers of the Colombo Powers, that is to say of Pakistan, India, Burma, Ceylon and Indonesia, to call a conference in April of the thirty "independent governments" of Asia and Africa. The more closely one reads the text of this important communique, the plainer it is that we and our leading European allies are not going to be able to afford the luxury of parliamentary confusion and delay which prevents our governments from making clear and firm decisions in Asia and in Africa. The fixing of April as a date for the meeting of the Asia-African conference is in effect the setting of a kind of deadline for a great many issues, such as Formosa, and perhaps North Africa as well—which will have to be much more clearly dealt with than they are now. Let us have no illusions about the fact that the United States and its leading allies in Western Europe are going to be judged and not the judges at this April conference. The official communique all but says in so many words that the conference will consider our intentions in Formosa and Korea, the French intentions in North Africa and South Viet Nam, the Netherlands position in New Guinea, the British in such places as Cyprus.

THE NON-INVITED

The list of the non-invited countries is interesting. Among the countries which are in Asia as a matter of geography, the non-invited are the Soviet Union, Australia and New Zealand, North and South Korea, Nationalist China and Israel. There appear to have been two main criteria of non-admission. One is to be now a satellite or colony of the West. Formosa and Korea are not treated as "independent governments." The second criterion is not to be of Asian stock, as the Soviet Union, Australia and New Zealand are not.

The list of states they did invite makes it very evident that this is no mere attempt to make a neutral bloc or a third force in between the giant military powers. Red China is no neutral and no third force. What this is, to put it plainly, is the most formidable and ambitious move yet made in this generation to apply the principle of Asia for Asians.

The members of the conference are to include all the great Asian powers—foremost among them India, Pakistan, Japan and China. The conference intends to promote economic, social and cultural co-operation. But the least common denominator among the members, the sentiment that unites them most easily, is their alignment on what the communique describes as "problems affecting national sovereignty and of racialism and of colonialism." The United States and its allies are going to be put on the defensive, and they had better not lose much time seeing to it that the positions they are going to defend are in fact defensible.

FORMOSA PROBLEM

So far as we are concerned, Formosa is the place of greatest vulnerability. It is vulnerable not perhaps because there is danger of war but because of the danger of our finding ourselves isolated from and at odds with the massive sentiment of all Asia. In point of fact the American position in Formosa is by way of becoming more rational and, therefore, more intelligible and defensible. But this is being done surreptitiously, indeed it appears that it is being done by the dubious device of secret clauses attached to open treaties. The reason for this is not wholly but mainly because Congress is supposed to be unwilling to face up to a rational and workable decision.

In Washington, in Paris, and in some degree in all the democratic capitals, the question is whether the elected assemblies will support those revisions of judgment and those decisions of policy which are called for by the swift march of world events.

As Our Readers See It

"SHOULD WE WORK?"

"Should we work less," an admirable and logical editorial in today's (Dec. 29) Times.

Is there any class of worker, you should excuse the expression, that has more holidays than the civil servants of B.C.?

A MESSAGE FROM MARS

Recently I dreamt that a messenger from Mars (a knight errant, not the cartoonists' conception of a Martian) was adding a huge throng as follows:

"Have you learnt nothing from the Great War to End Wars? You broke faith with a generation of crusaders."

"Have you learnt nothing from the great depression? Providence gave you the means for providing for all, peacefully, but you chose arming and inevitable war."

"Have you learnt nothing from that war to stamp out Fascism? You have broken faith with another generation of crusaders."

"Have you no contrition for the greatest crime of all time—Nagasaki and Hiroshima?"

"Have you even now not learnt that there is a way of warding off another great depression besides preparing for yet another war?"

"Why haven't you tried your Christian way?"

I awoke wondering why—with the great mass of the people wanting and praying for peace—why that way hadn't been demanded and tried, in spite of the relatively small minority who benefit from war.

If the Sermon-on-the-Mount was were tried, there would be some sense and sincerity in the exchange of Happy Christmas and New Year Greetings.

SURPLUS FOOD STALL

While I no longer have any direct connection with the Surplus Food Stall, it is with a great deal of interest and attention that both my husband and I have followed its course since we moved to Vancouver.

Because of the growing unemployment problem which concerns us all, and because the only requisite of the Stall is recognized need, it can, and has in the past, been a boon to people temporarily unemployed, who were not eligible for social assistance. The Children's and Family Service agreed sometime ago to refer such cases to the agencies issuing the cards, so that they can receive help.

For this reason, as well as many others, we cannot help but feel a great sense of personal thanks to the people of Victoria for their continued interest and support, and ask that you convey our sincere appreciation. I should particularly like to thank the press and radio stations CIVI and CKDA for their valuable publicity, the wholesale firms and individuals who have so generously supported the stall with their contributions, the Odeon theatre for their kindness in collecting such a lovely lot of tinmed goods at the children's matinee, the numerous service clubs and organizations who have so willingly continued to undertake pick-up and delivery service, the youthful but valuable help from the Girl Guides and other groups and individuals who have contributed their help in numerous ways.

The committee composed of directors Mrs. Sidney Penny, Miss Joan Bartle, Mrs. Peter Nielsen, Mr. and Mrs. Norman Williams, Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Harper and other volunteers, principally Mrs. Frank Sampson, Miss Ivatt and Mrs. Rena Patenaude, deserves great credit, as it has been no easy task, and I am most grateful to them.

We miss Victoria and wish it were possible to wish a Happy and Prosperous 1955 to all our friends.

RACE RUSSIA MUSTN'T WIN

Under the heading—"Here is a race we can't let Russia win"—The Financial Post in its Saturday, December 18 issue devotes its full front page to an article contributed by Mr. Burke Standard in which he stresses the vast difference in opportunity for higher education available to Russian youths in comparison to that open to young Canadians.

To begin with he asserts the present crisis in defense is simply a crisis in education, and points out that in 1918 Russia had one university for every 1.5 million of her population, while Canada had one for every 315,000. Today Russia has one university student for every 150 of her population; Canada has one for every 250 of our population. Mr. Standard says two thirds of the Russian students are in the pure and applied sciences, which are the basis of technological progress, while less than half of the Canadian students are in these classes. And he says by 1960 at present rates of progress Russia will be training more scientists and engineers than all the NATO countries (U.S., U.K., Canada, Etc.) combined. And the Financial Post prints all of these statements in black faced type on its front page.

The article also gives an instance of how this is working out in Eastern Canada in the town of Carleton Place where the principal of that town's high school said that 25 per cent of his students have the intellectual capacity to do college work, but less than 5 per cent are enabled for various reasons to go on. And he said most of those reasons are financial ones.

Surely there is something here to awaken the interest of Canadian people, especially since the ultra conservative Financial Post, of all papers, and published in Toronto (of all places) is so alarmed as to devote its whole front page to the need of such awakening.

'A Man to Remember'

DESPITE the insidious importunities of TV, your agent managed to get a book read over the holiday season. I report this both with pride and humility: pride in having resisted the siren-songs of the living room juke-box, humility that it took me a year to get around to reading Grace Macinnis' first-class biography of her father, the late J. S. Woodsworth.

Never mind: this book is ideal for reading at the year's end, when we are full of high hopes and resolve for the year just around the corner. It is a dull spirit that could read such a book and not come away from it ennobled and uplifted, pledged to lead a better and more useful life.

By any standards, James Woodsworth was one of the two or three most influential men in this first half-century of Canadian life. Men who knew him in his prime saw that he was surrounded by a genuine aura of saintliness. Indeed, with his neat white beard, his kindly eyes and his eloquent voice, he was frequently likened to "a voice from the New Testament."

Woodsworth's life must certainly be without parallel in modern Canadian history. A son of the manse, he resigned from the church three times because he could not believe in his heart what he preached. When, for instance, impure foodstuffs and improper sanitary conditions killed hundreds of Winnipeg babies (from the so-called "summer sickness"), he could not bring himself to the pious enunciation: "The Lord giveth and the Lord taketh away."

Voluntarily unfrocked, Woodsworth came to the Pacific Coast to seek work. His devoted wife was shocked and proud, too, when he took a job on the Vancouver waterfront, swinging a longshoreman's hook.

As a common laborer, Woodsworth learned what it felt like for men to stand in the rain, waiting a shipment, for a chance to earn a couple of dollars a day. His natural sympathies for the underdog, impressed on him in Oxford days when he toured the slums of London, found expression in vigorous lectures and writings depicting the plight of the underprivileged.

On the eve of the general strike of 1919 he found himself in Winnipeg. He promptly entered the fray on the side of the strikers, wrote some trenchant editorials for the labor paper, and was jailed briefly for his "seditious" comments. It is noteworthy that the people of Centre Winnipeg very shortly thereafter sent him to Ottawa by a smashing majority, and kept sending him there until he died.

In those days, Woodsworth was roundly criticized as a dangerous radical. But was he? A study of the record indicates that he was merely "a liberal in a hurry"—a man about 25 years ahead of his time.

One of Grace Macinnis' best stories concerns the way in which her father calmly played one old-line party off against another, in order to secure old-age pensions. It happened that, after the Constitutional Crisis of 1926, Woodsworth and his labor colleague, A. A. Heaps, found themselves as a tiny balance of power between Mr. King and Mr. Meighen.

Three weeks after the session opened, Woodsworth wrote Prime Minister King a letter, asking him if he intended to introduce legislation on old-age pensions, which had not been mentioned in the Throne Speech. In a simple but audacious sentence, he added that a similar letter was being sent to Mr. Meighen. King got the point. He not only brought down the legislation, but offered Woodsworth a cabinet post as Labor minister in the Liberal government!

Woodsworth championed other measures—a Welfare Council, unemployment insurance, and the baby bonus—which seemed visionary at the time but are commonplace now. His struggles for a national health plan may one day be realized.

Where he broke with his own party was on Canada's participation in the Second World War. Woodsworth had, since the turn of the century, regarded all war as the ultimate folly and could not bring himself to vote for Canada's taking up arms. A lone voice, he stood up in the House and voted against it—but when a member opposite cried "Shame!", Mr. King was quickly on his feet with a spirited defense of his old friend, arguing that the veteran Socialist was entitled to his opinion on the issue.

This, of course, is one of the things that made Woodsworth (as his daughter calls him) "a man to remember"—his ability to make and hold friends across party lines. No matter how much they disagreed with his political views, Liberals and Conservatives alike could not resist the warmth, the honesty and the integrity of their old rival.

In a sermon here on Sunday, Dean Phillip Beattie said that "the only true wealth is character." By that standard, J. S. Woodsworth died an immensely rich man.

Good News About Polio

Dr. Alvarez is Emeritus Consultant in Medicine, Mayo Clinic and Emeritus Professor of Medicine, Mayo Foundation.

The other day in Chicago, Dr. Salk spoke very hopefully about the tests of his new vaccine against polio. Especially when a second booster dose is given, the amount of immunity to the disease produced is highly satisfactory. It also is more lasting than was expected.

Present information indicates that the second injection must be given somewhere between four and seven months after the first one. The persistence of some antibodies (the substances that protect) in the blood of vaccinated children was found 20 months later. Dr. Salk's studies now make it appear that his so-called killed vaccine can solve the problem of protecting children from polio. The full story will not be written until we have Professor Francis' summing-up of the results obtained with the thousands of vaccinations made in 1954.

Plans are now being made for next summer when over a million more children will be vaccinated. It looks as if a new miracle of healing has been performed.

TEMPORARY PSYCHOSIS

For long, we physicians have wondered if sometimes the trouble with a psychotic man might not be in his blood, rather than in his brain. Perhaps what he inherited from his psychotic or queer ancestors was not so much a badly-working brain as a poison in his blood.

We doctors know that if a fetus in its mother's womb is unable to change chemically and to get rid of a substance known as phenylpyruvic acid, he or she will be born feeble-minded. We know that people who inherit an inability to change chemically and get rid of substances called porphyrins usually become neurotic. We know that a sane man who takes too much alcohol, or hashish, or mescaline or even a barbiturate can act insanely for a time. We know that many a woman who is a lovely and sensible and affectionate wife and mother for 24 days out of the lunar month, during the other four days, while her blood is too full of estrogen (from the ovaries) can be depressed, evil-tempered, antagonistic and, as she says, "not fit to live with."

Machine Guns, Ammo Stolen

VALCARTIER, Que. (CP)—

Army authorities today reported theft of 24 machine guns and 6,000 rounds of ammunition from the Valcartier army camp, 15 miles north of Quebec City.

The weapons and munitions were in wooden boxes and their disappearance was noted Tuesday. Army authorities said they are searching the camp area in case thieves have not had time to take the loot out of the territory.

Last autumn rifles were stolen from the camp but they were found a few days later buried in a ditch in the camp area.

New Central Saanich Council Takes Oath; Busy Year Forecast

Works Committee Schedules Tour of Area To Establish Priority of Proposed Jobs

SAANICHTON—Reeve H. Rupert Brown and Cllrs. Harry A. Peard and John B. Windsor were sworn into office by Justice of the Peace A. K. Hemstreet at Monday evening's statutory meeting of Central Saanich council.

KOREAN VETS SHARE GLOVES

NANAIMO (CP)—Korean war veteran E. P. Bishop received a belated Christmas present Monday from Smiley Douglas of Pine Lake, Alta.

Port Alberni Banker Lauds Mill Project

PORT ALBERNI—Word that MacMillan & Bloedel Ltd. plans new expansion in this area is "definitely good news for the Alberni Valley," according to Norman Schroeder.

Bank of Commerce manager and executive member of the Associated Chambers of Commerce of Vancouver Island, he said district payrolls had been maintained consistently through recent years, but that "a further industrial development here would give a much needed boost to the business of the area."

He spoke regarding an announcement Tuesday by Bert M. Hoffmeister, president of the company, that the probable next step in the company's expansion program is construction of a pulp and paper mill in the Alberni area.

While no date was given regarding the next expansion, it is expected here that a definite announcement will be made when forest management licenses are obtained.

Taxpayers Complain Of Mortuary

NANAIMO—City council here has promised to discuss in committee a protest by residents against establishment of a funeral parlor on the Esplanade.

Ernest Knott was spokesman for a delegation of taxpayers living near the proposed site.

He said at Monday's council meeting that residents knew the council had the right to grant permission under the zoning by-law for such a business to be established, but felt they should have been consulted first.

Mr. Knott said residents of the area feared that their property would be devaluated following such a move, and that traffic congestion and a parking problem would follow.

Legion Auxiliary Elects Officers

QUALICUM BEACH—President of the Ladies' Auxiliary of the Canadian Legion there during 1955 will be Mrs. F. H. Gillan, past president and founder member of the branch.

Also elected at the branch's annual meeting were Mrs. V. Faulkes and Mrs. E. J. Lockhart, vice-presidents, and Mrs. E. Sanders, secretary-treasurer.

Card parties were held by several members to raise funds for the branch's work, and at least two television parties were held at which tea was served while programs were being enjoyed.

First Aid Attendant Improves Treatment

CHEMAINUS—R. J. Duncan, industrial first aid attendant at MacMillan & Bloedel Ltd., Chemainus division, attended the annual conference of first aid attendants in Vancouver last week.

A blueprint submitted by Mr. Duncan on a streamlined version of the old WCB rocking board for artificial respiration, which he uses at Chemainus division, won much favorable comment.

ISLAND DIGEST

6 Victoria Daily Times WEDNESDAY, JAN. 5, 1955

RIPPLE ROCK in Seymour Narrows continues to plague seamen, government. A submerged hill with top measuring 175 by 250 feet, and resting nine feet under surface at low water, it is constant hazard in 14-knot current. Barge seen above was moored in place with huge steel cables in order to make drill tests.

Indians Study Alternate Plans To Remove Ripple Rock Menace

CAMPBELL RIVER—Apprehension regarding the proposed removal of Ripple Rock in Seymour Narrows by explosives was expressed here by William Roberts Sr. in an address to the Mariners' Club.

He said the large amount of explosives required would cause death and destruction of fish over a wide area, and that removal of the rock could form a depression in the sea bottom where whirlpools would form and endanger navigation at all times.

He said that although the federal government placed warning beacons at danger points in the sea, this had never been done at Ripple Rock.

OUT-EAT THEM, TOO

Gulf Islands Deer Outnumber People

PORT WASHINGTON, Pender Island (Special)—There are more deer on the Gulf Islands than there are people, 5,000, and this is a conservative estimate.

Provincial game experts say the deer population is probably the highest of any area in Canada, apart from game preserves.

While it is impossible to compute the exact number of deer roaming the islands, even casual observers soon see for themselves.

Deer haunt woods, meadows and orchards and show a distinct liking for household gardens.

So much so that residents, if they wish to have gardens at all, resort to an unusual method for keeping deer out. They cover high garden fences with fish nets.

This discourages deer, which otherwise show an unusual ability to wriggle through smallest spaces in ordinary fences.

FENCE NO BARRIER

Though deer of the islands are small, due to in-breeding, they soar easily over a seven-foot fence.

Despite heavy deer population few shooting parties visit the islands because of lack of accommodation. Thus, apart from the few deer brought down by local residents—most are shot for food, and canned—the deer lead a comparatively care-free life.

This existence has made the animals fairly tame. Even with people standing nearby, deer often jump fences into orchards and carry on with apple eating with an occasional glance at the viewers.

Deer pick apples off the trees, standing on hind legs and stretching necks to reach apples out of ordinary reach.

Sitting on porches in the evenings residents can hear the "click" of hooves hitting the tops of fences near the houses as deer soar across. And, late at night, it is not uncommon to hear deer hooves on front or back porches.

The deer, of the white-tail type, swim from island to island as the mood takes them.

In the hunting season, September to November, Islanders who shoot deer look at it this way:

"Sure, the deer are friendly. But when my orchard and garden have been feeding them all year, I think it only fair they should feed us for awhile."

VANCOUVER (CP)—A rare trumpeter swan, shot through the neck by a hunter, has died in Stanley Park Zoo.

The bird was found in the Port Hardy area by an RCMP officer and flown to the zoo for treatment.

A spokesman said an operation for removal of the bullet would have been fatal. There are less than 2,000 of the birds on the continent.

"No more worry about indigestion"

"I enjoy cooking fancy dishes. And I like eating them too, but many of the foods I like disagree with me! After eating, I had gas on the stomach, acid indigestion and heartburn. ## Alberni Shifts School Board Distribution

PORT ALBERNI—Education Minister Ray Williston has approved the application from the Alberni District School Board No. 70 for a redistribution of trustee representation throughout the district.

Rural areas will have two trustees in place of one, and the city of Alberni's number is to be reduced from three to two.

The request for a change came originally from the Sproat Lake Ratepayers' Association, that considered the rural areas were entitled to greater representation.

At the inaugural meeting of the Board, Trustee William A. Howson took the oath of office. He represents Port Alberni. Trustee Gerald Gray was elected chairman for the year in place of A. G. McCulloch.

After the meeting trustees took part in the inaugural banquet with the newly-elected councils of Alberni, Port Alberni and civic officials.

Mighty Cast Retrieves Duck for Dogless Hunter

CHEMAINUS—First of the fall outdoor tales of the week was told here this week by Don Dickie, who combined hunting and fishing into a saga that his friends have found hard to match.

Hunting in the Nanaimo area last Sunday, he successfully shot a duck, only to have it fall in a flowing stream about 50 yards from shore.

Minus the services of a dog, he was stumped as to how he would retrieve the bird, but only for a minute. It just so happened, that he had packed his bait-casting outfit along with him, and began casting out to the floating bird in the hope of snagging onto it.

This he did on about the fourth cast, dropping a spoon around the duck's neck where the treble hook took hold. Then he reeled the duck into shore.

He refers skeptics to his wife, who saw the whole episode; and until it was eaten, he had the hook-scarred duck as evidence.

He Travels Canada For National Flag

By TONY DICKSON

A thoroughly serious, dedicated young man with prematurely greying hair did a little flag waving in the office today. For he's a man with a mission; his to sell the idea of a truly national flag for Canada. He is John Heyssel, aged 24, from Thorold, Ont., who has been plugging for his flag from sea to sea across this country since early spring. And considering the miles he has covered and his method of operation, it seems likely he has packed as much interest in a distinctive flag into people as all Ottawa's fumbblings on the subject over the years.

The present flag, he maintains, must go because "it represents the standards of a single nation and its Queen who is head of one church. Canada is many religions... many races. With it must also go the Fleur de Lis. But when these proud flags leave us they depart with honor."

SYMBOLIC PINE

His alternative: a flag centred by a green Canadian pine, symbolic of national wealth, over a gold beaver, surrounded in a circle by 12 green maple leaves... the Yukon and Northwest Territories will eventually be provinces... with a red panel on the left symbolic of those who have died in recent wars, and a blue panel on the right, indicative of Canada's vast waters and spaceless skies.

Reception has been wonderful, he said. His manner of selling the idea is unique, if not a bit startling. He stands up in railway coaches, his flag design held aloft, and points out to all and sundry benefits of the suggested national emblem.

WORKS FOR IDEA

He is not wealthy, and works where he can until he can cash to carry on with the flag selling.

"A nation's trademark is its flag," he said. Divisions here between French and English groups, of which the flag question is one of the issues, provides only "confusion and amusement" to newcomers.

The British "dined richly on our forests and furs, the Americans on our soil and ore... but let us announce the end of the banquet with our new Canadian flag."

The young man, of Irish-German extraction, travels with a heavily labeled suitcase, a warm coat and a five-gallon hat.

Sometimes, when train fare gets slim, he hitch-hikes. "And it's cold this time of year. I'm leaving to go through the mountains tomorrow en route back east."

Kiwanians Hear 1955 President

Kiwanis Club president-elect Harold Johns gave his inaugural address at the Kiwanis Club luncheon Tuesday, urging members to live by the Kiwanis creed, not just within the club, but in their everyday life.

"If we live by our principles all the time," he said, "we will be showing, by our individual qualities, the fine qualities of the Kiwanis Club."

He pointed out to members that the club's effectiveness lay not so much with the board of directors, but with the committee members and individuals within the club.

He urged all members to get behind club projects.

"What we accomplish in 1955 depends entirely on what members do in their respective jobs within the club," he said.

he likes to keep up with the times—last year's

The LOOKLESS OOF is a retailer married to last year's business—to last year's stock, last year's ideas, last year's problems.

He can't see an opportunity two inches away, and wouldn't know a trend from a banana.

What he has learned from experience is what to do in case the past should ever return.

Fortunately the OOF is a rare creature.

Most retailers know that selling means keeping in tune with the times.

They're sensitive to changes in customer preferences, and re-stock their shelves accordingly.

They're quick to take advantage of manufacturers' newspaper advertising—by featuring the product in their own store displays... and by including the brand in their own newspaper ads.

Since they themselves advertise in newspapers, they know that any manufacturer who does the same is really in earnest—and really is out to win the market.

A modern retailer knows that the best advertising is the kind that reaches all his customers.

And he likes the manufacturer who thinks the same.

Now it can be told about CAULIFLOWER

When cauliflower is advertised as "big" it's pretty hard to tell how big—so you can't tell if it's a bargain or not.

When you see it advertised as "solid," question is how solid.

Even when you stand before a bin of cauliflower, you can't pick up and compare all the heads so as to get full value for your money.

So SAFEWAY prices all cauliflower by the pound... like cabbage or bananas are priced.

If you want a small cauliflower, you can pick out just the one you want and pay only for exactly what you get. If you want a large one, same way.

You get full value—exact value—because a pound is always a pound, whereas "large" or "big" or "solid" are different every day and different in every store. Same way with other fresh vegetables and fruits.

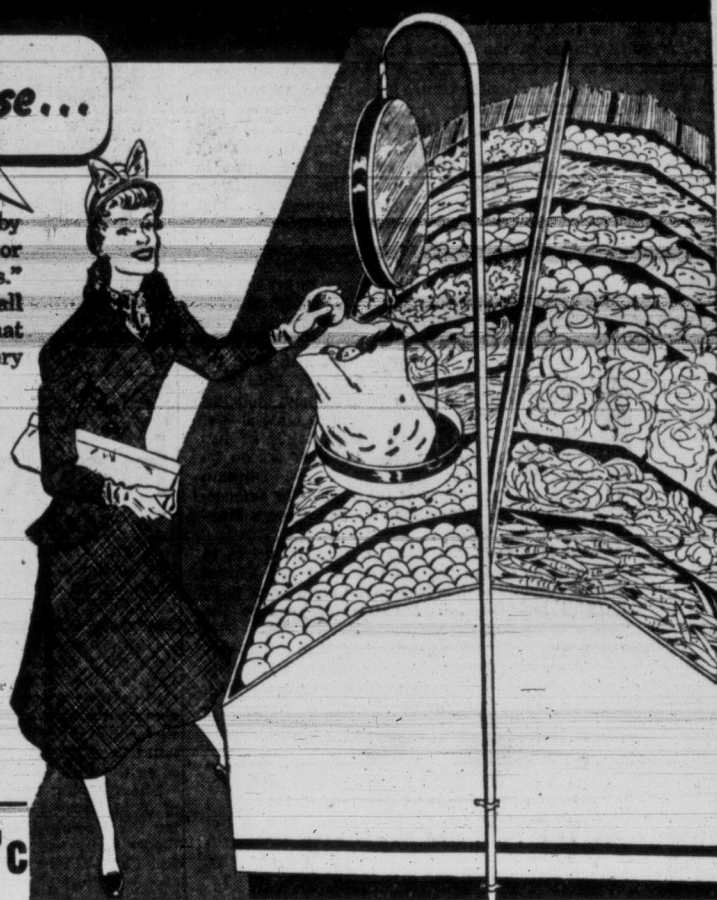

SAFEGWAY prices all fruits and green foods that are practical by weight!

Come in and see how much further your money goes when you select your own and pay by the pound!

You're SURE when you shop SAFEGWAY

SURE of full value in produce because...

...Safeway brings you fruits and vegetables of guaranteed quality, prices them by the pound. With everything measured by weight, there's no need to buy more or less than you need to make your purchase come out in even "dozens" or "bunches." There's no need to take a large head of lettuce or cauliflower if a small one is all you need. You select the exact amount you want of each item... pay only for what you get. Less food is wasted, more money is saved. So be sure of full value on every purchase... every day. Be sure... shop SAFEGWAY.

IT'S MY VIEW

By BILL WALKER, Sports Editor

Pickin' the turkey bones, or would you rather have soup? A quick glance at the Western Hockey League scoring statistics makes one wonder if Bronco Horvath is a team or a player. . . . The Edmonton centre leads in just about everything but stolen rubber jackets. . . . His 32 goals set him up with a chance of knocking off Doug Adam's league standard of 53 for the season. . . . His 63 points at the halfway mark of the campaign puts Bobby Love's record of 101 points in danger. . . . His four hat tricks already this year equals a league mark held by Alan Kuntz of Vancouver. . . . and he shares in or has set other minor marks already this year.

Walker

Cougarwise, Andy Heberton could be the second player in club history to hit the coveted 40-goal mark. . . . Andy has 25 going into tonight's battle at the Arena against Vancouver. . . . Eddie Mazur holds the pre-eminent position with 43 in the 1954-55 season. . . . And tag Pete Durham as headed for a possible new standard. . . . Pete's previous claim to fame is that he has topped almost every league he has played in—in penalties—but this season he is shooting for something more commendable. . . . Durham has 12 goals to date, only six short of the record for defensemen owned by Babe Pratt, Willie Schmidt and George Hunchuk.

'Tis true—that picture of the Island champion curlers in last week's edition was of the Duncan rink, and not Alberni. . . . The culprit responsible has been given eight days' pack drill at the coffee machine. . . . Congratulations to the champs.

Victoria City footballers are on the threshold of a first-half Coast Soccer League championship, and it would be a fine tribute indeed if city fans would rally more than ever to the support of this youthful team in their two remaining league contests. . . . The championship will be won or lost here in Victoria and the kids and their officials are deserving of all the support they can get. . . . They have done, and are doing a fine job. . . . The guiding lights, as you probably know, are Tom Restell, Don Wakelyn and Fuzz Blair. . . . Calgary Stampede has the easy road to travel now in the Western League race. . . . The Stamps need again will have to make the trip to the coast. . . . The B.C. Lions? Why they're after Hugh McElhenney and Don Heinrich!

Think the Yanks aren't prepping for the Olympics? Think again. The U.S. Olympic committee last week received a $100,000 cheque from Life Magazine, representing money collected from the public in a special drive last fall.

Things we didn't know before: Only two National Hockey League players were born outside the Dominion of Canada. . . . They are Jack Evans, of the New York Rangers, who hails originally from Garret, South Wales, and Ivan Irwin, who was born in Chicago. . . . Crying the blues these days, and for good reason, is Larry Marshall, the wrestling impresario from Duncan, but a curling addict at heart. . . . Larry has had to give up his Consols' rink at Duncan because of a back ailment which will put him in a cast for a few weeks.

In proof of the fact that Vancouver Canucks don't like Victoria's Cougars any more than they displayed on the ice last night in Vancouver, here's a little more fuel for the fire. . . . The Cougars made overtures for a player bought by Canucks but one who won't report to the Canucks. . . . The answer to the Cougar question was, in effect, "If he doesn't play for us, you won't get him, that's for sure." The player was not identified.

Hackles for Homework

By DENNY BOYD

A group of people who, at this moment, don't know a hackle from a fan-wing, will start tying trout flies sometime Thursday.

Now, heaven knows what these first creations will look like but the fact remains that under the curriculum for the fly-tyers' course in the Greater Victoria night classes, students will be put to their own devices after the first lecture.

The fly-tying course consists of eight lectures under instruction of Bill Campbell, dealing with theory and practical application, and Campbell has drawn up a program that should turn out some fifty artificial lure-makers when the course winds up in March.

Campbell seemingly has been well chosen to instruct in the course, which should attract wide interest among local sportsmen.

He was born in Penicton but moved to England at an early age. He has fished rivers all over England, but says his happiest moments were spent angling for Atlantic salmon in the rivers of Devon. Some of his funniest anecdotes originated in Devon.

In recent years, Campbell returned to Canada and owns a fishing camp on McGillivray Lake in the south Cariboo which he operates in the summer.

McGillivray is a dark water lake that teams with rainbow trout up to three and four pounds and take the fly readily. Bill has made a lifetime study of the habits of the rainbow trout and has come to the conclusion that it is impossible to catch it with a fly.

Campbell is religiously devoted to the fly, claiming they will catch more fish than any other lure. He does not have too much use for spinning. He is anxious to try some coho fishing with bucktails and also wants to go after small-mouth bass with plugs.

He has created and operated a fly-tying correspondence school; he is a past member of the British Fly-Tyngs Postal Club, and taught evening classes in fly-making for two years in Nelson.

Some of the topics his classes will investigate are: The importance of imitating fish food; materials used in tying; principles of fly-tying; terms used; tying in wicks and ribbing; use of wires and tinsel; impressionism vs. exact imitation; and functional differences between wet and dry flies.

There will be homework after each lecture. The assignment after the first lecture is for the students to tie a basic fly pattern at home.

English Cricketers Score Second Test Win

MELBOURNE (Reuters)—A devastating spell of fast bowling by Frank Tyson, who took seven Australian wickets for only 27 runs, boosted England to victory today by 128 runs in the third cricket test here and to a 2-1 lead in the best-of-five series.

Australia won the first test by an innings and 154 runs and England the second by 38 runs.

Australia went into today's play needing 165 runs for victory with eight wickets standing—a strong position. But "Typhoon" Tyson wrecked the Australian batting to bring about one of the most remarkable collapses in recent cricket history.

The remaining eight Australian wickets crashed for 36 runs in 80 minutes this morning. Tyson and Brian Stratham bowling unchanged.

EVANS STANDS OUT

Brilliant wicketkeeping by Godfrey Evans, who took three catches, greatly assisted in Australia's dismissal for 111. They scored 231 in the first innings while England made 191 and 270.

A crowd of some 30,000 watched the procession of Australian batsmen in a tense atmosphere.

Tyson's performance was the best of his short career. He started Australia's collapse with the seventh ball of his first over. Harvey flicked the ball down the legside and Evans took a brilliant catch.

Only two had been added. He struck twice in this third over, Benau being bowled with the first ball and Miller being caught by Edrijon.

Statham had Hole caught by Evans at 97 and then Tyson continued his remarkable spell, catches a bye.

The winner, the grapple who isn't eliminated, in the battle royal receives a special take-home purse.

Consols Play Opens at Duncan

Competition in the British Consols curling playoffs at Duncan begins tonight with two winners for the Island playoffs to be named by Sunday.

Rinks entered will be skipped by Tony Folk, Cam Earle, Stan McKellar and Dick Price. Folk has taken over Larry Marshall's rink, Marshall being sidelined by illness.

VSIAA Directors To Meet Thursday

Directors of the Victoria-Saanich Inlet Teachers' Association will meet Thursday night at 8 in the British Public Schools Club.

The meeting will finalize plans for the general membership meeting, Jan. 24, and will form a list of trophy winners.

Fresh Deck Could Solve Cougar Ills

Canuck Trio Sparkles; Teams Meet Here Tonight

Vancouver 4, Victoria 2

By BILL WALKER

VANCOUVER—The Vancouver Canucks rode with the hot hand here Tuesday night in the first of their three-game series, with Victoria Cougars this week—a series that resumes in Victoria tonight.

Meanwhile the Cougars were handling a cold deck in their 4-2 loss to the club that has the avowed intention of cutting Victoria down to the size that fits fourth place in Western League stakes.

The hot hand belonged to the Canucks as a whole in a fast and sometimes bitter contest, always rugged and with no quarter asked or given.

The composition of that hot hand is the belief that Phil Maloney, Bill Ezinicki and Hugh Barlow can do no wrong, and

All 'Twas Said of Them, But . . .

Ezinicki did little more than play a sound positional game in this one, cruelly subtle as he was in his checking, and demanding the respect that he got for what he gave. Which is and has always been his self-drawn chore.

Maloney did nothing more than supply the fingers to the hot hand with three goals, the first hat trick by a Canuck on Vancouver ice this year. Which was enough in itself.

Barlow set up Maloney for two of the counters, and looked more than capable in doing it. The fourth tally went to Dea. But the deal was conversely as told from a Cougar viewpoint.

For example: Maloney's first goal was blazing slap shot on a drop pass from Barlow that went through Pete Durham's legs and came into view of Marcel Pelletier too late.

Dea's tally followed, and

Reay May Stack Own Cards Tonight

Now carrying the play, Cougars opened the third period with a fresher deck than their rivals, but what proved to be a stacked pack.

Kilburn hit the post with Bower out of his crease. Heberton rifled a drive off the upright and Dorohoy, attempting to slap the rebound home, saw his shot hit Bower's stick, through no fault of Bower's.

Finally Heberton got his reward. He scored his 25th goal of the year by knifing through the Canuck defense while teammate Durham was in the penalty box.

Maybe Vancouver didn't deserve to lose, but they didn't deserve to win any more than did the Cougars, who pulled Pelletier for a sixth attacker in the final minute, during and following the penalty to Ford at 17:45.

Heberton was hardly off the ice in the final seven minutes and, with Maloney's fortune, would have been the game's outstanding figure. Certainly he was a dominant personality.

As it was the Cougars held the deal at the finish and, hoping for better cards at Victoria tonight, Reay plans to stack his own deck.

He'll use Doug Anderson on right wing with Dorohoy and Heberton and move Gene Achymchuk up to the pivot between Kilburn and Macauley.

If that doesn't work, he'll counter with Kilburn and Heberton doing double duty on left wing. The pot will be the Canucks attempting to cut the Cougar margin to six points, the Cougars trying to regain the spread of 10 they had before Tuesday.

Brennan, who played the initial three games in Stamps' recent coast jaunt, flew home to prepare for the move to Saskatoon. He was to have reported Tuesday.

"Brennan was supposed to have left Calgary Monday," said Currie. "However, Norm Couch, Saskatoon manager, phoned me and said Brennan had called him and said he was thinking of not reporting. Couch said he was going to negotiate through Brennan's brother in Saskatoon and that's the last I've heard."

The committee later reported to Conn Smythe of Toronto, chairman of the league's board of directors, who issued a statement saying the governors had authorized NHL president Clarence Campbell of Montreal to see that the rules were carried out "in all respects." Campbell is chairman of the rules committee.

The committee later reported to Conn Smythe of Toronto, chairman of the league's board of directors, who issued a statement saying the governors had authorized NHL president Clarence Campbell of Montreal to see that the rules were carried out "in all respects." Campbell is chairman of the rules committee.

Campbell said in an interview that he called the meeting on instructions of the owners, who constitute the board of governors, because "some dissatisfaction" had been expressed with the lack of uniformity in officiating and the fact rules were not being enforced as they should be.

He said the "Richard incident" of Dec. 29, in which the Montreal Canadiens' famous Rocket struck linesman George Hayes on the face with a glove during an outbreak in a game at Toronto, was not responsible for the meeting. Instructions to call it were issued prior to the incident, Campbell said.

He said there were three types of problem involved in establishing uniformity of officiating. The first was to maintain the same standard throughout a game. Referees showed a tendency to be tough at the start of a game, then slacken off if possible. As a result, fouls called in the first period were ignored when committed in the second or third.

NEED CONSISTENCY

Another problem, Campbell said, is to get some consistency from game to game. "This is not always possible because the style of play varies according to the team . . . but we will try to get back into a uniform pattern."

Finally, there was the problem of disparity between the discipline enforced by one referee compared with another. Campbell said "every assurance" was being given officials that their decisions will receive the backing of the league.

Referees will be expected to call the play "without any concern whatever" for the result of the contest, which team is leading at the time of an infraction or the number of penalties handed out to one team in comparison with the other.

Rookie Steps Up

TORONTO (CP)—Centre Norm Corcoran, former St. Catharines Teepees Junior A player in the Ontario Hockey Association, now with Hershey Bears of the American League, will join Boston Bruins tonight for their National Hockey League game with Toronto Maple Leafs, it was announced Tuesday.

Major League Schedule Calls for Air Travel

By JERRY LISK

CHICAGO (AP)—Eight plane trips will be required in this year's American League baseball schedule with Kansas City as a new member.

League president Will Harridge today estimated the 1955 schedule, to be announced Jan. 17, will add between 9,000 and 10,000 miles of travel for the eight clubs to a previous average season.

Harridge said the shift of Baltimore to the eastern division and the switch of the Athletics from Philadelphia to Kansas City brought considerable travel compensation on a divisional basis.

However, travel complications between Kansas City and Detroit and Cleveland have made necessary the eight plane trips which will mark the first time a regular schedule has put the league in the air.

Cleveland, Baltimore and Detroit flew last year, but as a matter of convenience and not because the schedule required it.

This difference this year is that in some instances of week-end play, rail service would not get the clubs to required dates.

All suitable rail hops from the eastern cities, or Detroit and Cleveland, to Kansas City or vice versa require a Chicago transfer. When St. Louis operated, a convenient rail jump could be made directly from Detroit or Cleveland.

In the opening week of the season, Detroit's Tigers must fly from Kansas City to Detroit for a home opener against Cleveland. On Saturday, April 30, Washington flies from Detroit to Kansas City for a Sunday game.

DETROIT (AP)—Sugar Ray Robinson, appearing as sleek and swift as ever, ends a 30-month "retirement" tonight and starts his calculated comeback to regain the world's lightweight championship.

The former champion, inactive since June, 1952, meets Joe Rindone of Boston in a non-televised 10-round in Olympia Stadium.

Robinson brought his entire "road show" to Detroit for this fight, including his manager, three trainers, valet, barber and personal physician. It seemed like old times.

Gordeau, Dumont Tied For Puck Point Lead

As Nanaimo Clippers move jauntily towards their second straight Vancouver Island Amateur Hockey League title, team-mates Mel Gordeau and Bud Dumont are waging a battle for the scoring crown.

Gordeau, while holding the league's high of 22 goals, is tied with Dumont with 42 points. Dumont leads in assists with 24. In the next two positions are Nanaimo's Joe Zuback with 37 points and Red Carr with 35.

Holding fourth and fifth positions are C & C Taximen Ron Bremner with 27 points and Don Ashbee with 26. Bob Martin's Condition Tablets

Why do millions of dogs throughout the world have their Bob Martin's regularly? Why should your dog need conditioning?

Well, for one thing, it is almost impossible for you to give him an ideal diet these days. And the exercise you give him may not always be enough. For these reasons, the average dog is not thoroughly fit. That is why you so often see such symptoms as listlessness, loss of appetite, excessive scratching and poor coat. They're all signs of loss of condition well known to the experienced dog-owner.

WHAT'S IN BOB MARTIN'S?

Bob Martin's Condition Tablets contain liver, which supplies minerals needed by the body, vitamins A and D and vitamins of the B group. These vitamins and minerals are vital necessary for dogs good health and they are the ones your dog often doesn't get in his food. By improving his appetite and making sure he gets the full nourishment from his food, and by toning-up the dog's whole system, they provide a natural safeguard against loss of condition.

Have a look at your dog! Do you see any of the danger signals given below?

If your dog is listless, moody or lacking in energy; if he leaves his dinner half finished or eats it without enthusiasm; if his coat looks lifeless, dull and thin, or if he scratches a great deal; then he's out of condition.

Deal with this loss of condition at once, before it seriously affects his health! Give Bob Martin's Condition Tablets regularly.

When you see the difference this simple treatment makes, then ask yourself:

Is my dog brim full of energy, bursting with high spirits?

Does he wolf down his dinner and leave the plate as clean as a whistle?

Has he a splendid coat, bright eyes and a cold damp nose?

If you can say "Yes" to all three, then you know he's in perfect condition . . .

... and that's Bob Martin condition!

City Pin Scores Soaring

City bowlers are currently enjoying one of their top seasons in several years.

High scores are the dominating factor in both five and tenpins, with youthful keggers taking a goodly share of the glory.

Thus, it came as no real surprise when Dave Doolittle, a one-year tenpin trundler, made a big noise in Gibson's holiday tenpin double tournament.

The first time Doolittle rolled in the tournament he teamed with Bill Day to take over the top spot with a 1,236-36-1,162 total. Doolittle shot games of 182, 175 and then posted a torrid 279 for a 636 triple.

He then paired with Len Parsons and the two pounded out 1,230-12-1,242, tournament winning score. In that series, Doolittle shot games of 220, 246 and 183.

In addition he racked up a 276 single and went on to a 650 triple while rolling in a pacing series.

In the Strathcona mixed doubles tourney, Rosie Smith and Bud Falk won turkeys with the winning total of 1,044. Lolly Hughes and Ron Coulter were second at 1,040.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Peterson combined for a 1,283 total to capture a mixed doubles five-pin event.

Blondie Robinson was the big winner in the annual Capital City Christmas Fivepin Tournament.

He was rolling on five teams which placed in the money in the three-man team A Section, played on the second-place team in B Division, won four prizes in the A doubles, shared first place in B doubles and had high three-game scratch of 947.

He paired with Jim Nott for the winning A doubles score of 1,807. He then teamed with Mary Chayko for a 1,665 triple. Howie Butler for a 1,633 and Bob Elliott for 1,604.

Robinson and Fred Carson took the B doubles crown. Other winners in that section were George Brown and Doug Elford, 1,440; Cec Atkinson and Bob Mawie, 1,427; Bill Orr and Phil Smith, 1,411; Rod Davidson and Jack Chamberlain, and Marge Deslaurier and Elliott, 1,335.

Ron Cuth took A singles with a 918 triple, while Nott, 887, and Mrs. White at 871 followed.

Frank Choptiany, 731; Carson, 692, and John Schapanisky, 669, placed in that order in B singles.

A all-events title went to Howie Butler with a 2,585 total, while Carson shot a 2,104 to win the B all-events.

Mrs. White had women's high three scratch of 796 and Mary Chayko topped the singles section at 318. Phil Smith shot a 356 single game for the men.

A team winners were Chayko's Chicks, 2,442; Hotshots, 2,427; Aces, 2,388; Halfpits, 2,304 and Lloyd's Lads, 2,252. Underdogs, 2,272; Nott's Plumbing, 2,146; The Cons, 2,116, and Frank's, 2,099, won prizes in the B team division.

Several tenpinners got away to a good start as second-half action in Gibson's Senior Tenpin League opened Tuesday night.

Jim Ferrie claimed a new league single record when he slammed in a 278 singleton. He blew the first frame, cracked out 10 strikes and then took a nine-pin hit on his last ball.

Other high singles were rolled by Alex Quinn, 224; Doolittle, 223; Bill Norris, 221, 212; Bill Holmes, 221, 209; Elmer Curtis, 213; Wilbur Webb, 212, 204, 203; Andy Palmer and Ken Munn, 205; Bill Coates, 204; Bill Day, 203; Cliff Morgan and Wilf Johnston, 202, and George Brown, 200.

Leading threes were posted by Holmes, 626; Webb, 619; Ferrie, 611; Palmer, 601; Norris, 600; Coates, 585; Munn, 576; Len Parsons, 561; Quinn, 557, and Jack Hobby, 551.

Mary Dykes paced the Women's Major Tenpin League with a 197 single and 496 triple.

$5.5 Million Building Boom In Sight for Saanich Area

Over $5,500,000 will be spent on construction in Saanich this year—smashing all previous building records in the fast-growing municipality, according to the Saanich works department.

An anticipated $4,500,000 will be spent on private dwellings and $1,000,000 on additions and construction of schools.

Building figures will exceed the all-time high of 1954 which soared to $4,706,105 for all types of buildings.

Total number of permits issued for private dwellings alone last year totaled 690, an increase of 110 over 1953.

"In 1955 we expect to top the 800 mark for private dwellings," said Jack Taylor, municipal building inspector. "There is no reason why building should not continue to soar."

This year will also see the construction of two new schools in the municipality. These are the Colquitz Junior High School at a cost of $563,800 and the Gordon Heath Elementary School at $147,000.

In addition eight new classrooms will be constructed at the Doncaster School at a cost of $126,000 and two classrooms at Strawberry Vale Elementary School at $23,000.

Saanich also expects construction of a certain number of commercial buildings, such as garages and stores in the more heavily populated districts.

Parts of Stolen Heifer Located

Police at Duncan have identified the head and hide of a cow found here Monday as that of a heifer stolen on the night of Dec. 22-23 from the Glenora farm of Miss Mary B. Waldon. It was found beside a secondary road in the district.

The heifer was valued at $250, but was worth much more to the owner since it was the only 14th generation animal of the Waldon breeding.

Miss Waldon, president of Cowichan Agricultural Society, offered $100 reward for recovery of the animal. Other groups and individuals eventually raised the reward money to $600.

Admirals Rd. Survey Work Half Finished

Survey work on Esquimalt's $100,000 Admirals Road improvement project is half completed, municipal engineer John Graeme told council Monday night.

Work is being carried on as fast as weather will permit.

Reeve Wurtele, in his inaugural speech earlier in the evening, called for early action on a formal agreement with Ottawa covering the Admirals Road work.

Cost will be shared 75-25 between Ottawa and Esquimalt if the Federal cabinet endorses, as it is expected to, a recommendation promised in November by National Defense Minister R. O. Campney.

Engineer Graeme also told the council that construction of concrete sidewalks in the Colville wartime housing area has been in progress for two weeks, in one of Esquimalt's first local improvement works.

Both sides of Colville Road starting from Admirals Road on the south side and Hutchinson Avenue on the north side are now being worked on, he said.

Survey work required for rounding off the irregular-shaped corner at Aldebury and Viewfield Road also has been done.

Paving on Lampton has been finished, said Mr. Graeme, and cleaning up between Munro and Bewdley is in progress.

Northwest Craigflower sewer extension is finished, but cleaning up on some private property may not be possible until spring.

10 Art Scholarships At Norfolk Galleries

By AUDREY ST. D. JOHNSON

Clayton Hare, director of the Norfolk Galleries, Broad Street, has recently announced an expansion of art school facilities. With installation of a potter's wheel, ceramics will be added to the curriculum. Also silk-screen and other graphic arts processes will be taught.

Of particular significance, however, is the announcement that, through a group of public spirited citizens, 10 scholarships of a year's tuition each at the galleries are being arranged and will become available through the Greater Victoria School system. Students will be chosen from various schools on the basis of our outstanding promise.

In the meantime, young and elderly, schooled and unschooled artists are finding release for pent-up energies and scope for their talents at the Galleries' school, which is the only one of its kind in the vicinity.

Run on continental lines, it provides continuous activity and instruction on a six-day week basis with life classes being held twice a week.

Saanich Job Outpaces Sewage Fund

$200,000 Discount on Bonds Nicked Money for Project

With more than half of its $2,100,000 sewage project completed, Saanich this year faces a "touch and go battle" against having to borrow additional funds to finish its major service scheme; it was learned today.

The sewage scheme, started in the spring of 1952 is not expected to be finished by April 1, 1956. Saanich hoped to complete the project by that date. Some 5,000 residents will benefit by the service when it is completed.

CLOSE WATCH

While optimistic that Saanich may have sufficient money, Mr. Leslie Passmore, sewage committee chairman, said the fund was sinking rapidly and a close watch would have to be kept on expenditures this year.

He listed three factors which might result in a lack of sufficient funds:

1. A large wage increase for the work crews.
2. A rise in the price of materials.
3. Engineering difficulties, such as having to dig through too much rock.

TOUCH-AND-GO

"It will be touch and go," he said. "But we still hope to complete the project with the money voted in the sewage by-law."

Mr. Passmore said regardless of whether there was enough money, the entire project would be completed as stipulated in the by-law endorsed by ratepayers in December, 1951.

If the Saanich council runs out of funds, it will have to go to the people for more money.

SOLD AT DISCOUNT

But before taking such action Saanich council would first take an alternative. This would be to recover over $200,000 it lost when the sewage bonds were sold on the New York market in 1952. The bonds were sold at a discount.

Council has the power to issue additional debentures to make up the loss, without going to the people. But if this is not sufficient, then it would have to submit an additional money by-law to the electorate.

40 MILES TO GO

Saanich work crews have yet to lay about 40 miles of pipe before the project is completed. This includes the area between Douglas and the golf course as far north as Swan Lake. The last district includes the Panhandle down to the Veterans' Hospital and Mount Tolmie as far north as Pear Street.

Municipal Engineer H. D. Dawson said work crews were at present running into rock and work for a time would be slower. He estimated it would take about two more years before the scheme is finished.

To date Saanich crews have laid 48 miles of pipe in the George district and west of Douglas. About 2,100 householders could now use the service, but only 800 so far have connected up the sewage system.

B.C. to Repair Nanaimo Roadway

B.C. government today declared a two-mile stretch of Departure Bay Road in Nanaimo an arterial highway, and will carry out repairs this summer. The government took over the Departure Bay Road from the new George Pearson Bridge, on Millstream, to Northfield Road, the northern boundary of the city.

Public works officials said repair work is scheduled for the coming construction season. Departure Bay Road is part of the Island Highway.

Ladysmith Baby 'Poor' In Vancouver Hospital

A Ladysmith infant is in "poor condition" in St. Paul's Hospital, Vancouver, today. The child, prematurely-born daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Hooper, was flown to the mainland Tuesday when Ladysmith doctors despaired of her life.

Union Heads Disagree on Wage Policy

A statement by a B.C. carpenters' union official announcing a hold-the-line wage policy was sharply criticised by a painters' union officer in Victoria today.

E. T. Staley, secretary of Provincial Council of Carpenters, said Tuesday that with few exceptions members would negotiate for only fringe benefits and some other contract changes.

Don Bushell, business agent for painters, glaziers and pile-drivers' local, said such a statement would hinder bargaining by other unions with wages on a par with the carpenters' 1954 scale, $2.25.

Mr. Staley said the decision was the result of province-wide referendum among 6,500 members of United Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners of America (TLC-AFL).

BC-WIDE SCALE

Members would, he said, endeavor to raise the scale of workers now below the rate mentioned. That figure is the provincial standard accepted by carpenters, but not all union locals in B.C. gained it for carpenters in those areas.

"He should never have said a thing like that in the paper," Mr. Bushell said. "Employers will say 'no' when their groups demand higher pay," because they will take carpenters' self-established level as being sufficient.

Victoria and Prince George carpenters have already obtained the $2.25 level, and other contracts which will be at that figure by April 1 will see no requests for increases.

Fringe benefits to be sought include a 2 per cent increase to 4 per cent of gross earnings for holiday pay and three paid statutory holidays.

ASK THE TIMES

Q.—Will you please explain the differences between the following: Hurricane, tornado, cyclone, typhoon? Several of us have been having friendly arguments.—J.A.W.

A.—A cyclone, a storm in a region of low barometric pressure in temperate latitudes, usually is spoken of as a depression or "low." In cases of tropical cyclones, such storms are called hurricanes and typhoons. In the northern hemisphere the winds move in a counter-clockwise direction, and in the southern hemisphere clockwise. In diameter such a tropical storm may be 600 miles, but often much less. The diameter of a depression or "low" may be 1,000 to 2,000 miles. A hurricane is a tropical cyclone having a diameter of 50 to 1,000 miles, with winds of a mean velocity exceeding 75 miles per hour near the centre or calm space. These are violent storms occurring in the West Indies, the Gulf of Mexico and close to Florida. A typhoon also is a tropical cyclone similar to a hurricane, occurring in the western Pacific Ocean, the China Sea, and in proximity to the coast of Japan.

A tornado is a very violent counter-clockwise whirl of small area averaging a few hundred feet in diameter. These storms are of frequent occurrence in the U.S. east of the Rockies, the winds in some cases being estimated to exceed 200 miles an hour. Some of such storms have been known to cut a swath through a town, leaving the buildings along one side of a street in ruins while the buildings on the other side of the street were undamaged.

RCN Officer Trainees Off on Three-Month Cruise

Sleek and graceful in new tropical coat of light grey, HMCS Venture, the RCN's largest training ship, sailed past Dunstons Head this morning on a three-month cruise to Pearl Harbor, Fiji Islands, and the Antipodes. Ontario was converted last fall from an operational to a training ship, with most of her armament removed. On the current three-month cruise she'll be a floating classroom for 75 cadets of HMCS Venture, officer-training establishment at Esquimalt. Grouped around reviewing stand are cadets' classmates who'll remain at shore training until later this year. Venture training plan was started in 1954 to fill need for future officers in RCN's growing fleet. (Times photo by Bill Halkett.)

Library Board Appointments Bring Protest

Ald. Macmillan To Fight Mayor

Victoria's youngest and poll-leading alderman, R. Macmillan, gave notice today he will fight the mayor's recent nominations for two vacancies on Victoria Public Library Board.

It may be the spark which sets off another council explosion on the library question.

At the inaugural council meeting Monday the mayor listed his recommendations for library board in a list of 1955 civic committees and appointments.

Council ratified all his nominations with exception of those for library board. Under the Library Act these positions cannot be set until after the third Monday in January.

Named in the mayor's list were Ald. Brent Murdoch, Victoria College vice-principal Robert Wallace, and retired private school headmaster Capt. D. J. Proudfoot, each of whom has a year yet to remain in office. Two additional members who must be elected by council for a two-year term are Frank Mulliner, retired alderman, and Mrs. Doris A. Loughheed.

It is the latter two, both of whom supported removal from the library of books considered "subversive," who do not fit into the Macmillan picture of what the board should be.

More nominations

"As far as I'm concerned there will be plenty of nominations (before council voting)," Mr. Macmillan told the Times today.

"I'll nominate others. I am not in favor of the present board and never have been. We'll not make any progress unless it is changed."

Last January, Alderman Macmillan also protested the mayor's recommendations to the board. He forced a secret vote on the matter and was successful in getting one of his own nominees, Prof. Wallace, elected.

Young Burglar Jailed One Year

Found guilty on a charge of breaking, entering and attempted theft, 21-year-old Vernon Umphrey, of Saanich, was sentenced to one year in jail in County Court today.

He was convicted by Judge J. B. Clearhue of breaking and entering the premises of Brackman-Ker Milling Co. Ltd., Douglas Street, on November 17.

TROUBLE LOOMS

Municipal Heads Caught in Squeeze

Delayed B.C. School Tax Formula Jams Municipalities Against Legal Deadlines

By ED McLEAN

There will be a terrific scramble in B.C. municipal halls this spring, traditional budget-making time for civic chiefs.

The municipal leaders will be caught in a big squeeze—the unknown effects of the Bennett administration's still unrevealed Williston formula on school costs could jam civic officials against immovable legal deadlines.

So, midnight lamps will burn brightly in municipal halls in five months (May 15 is deadline for tax rates to be struck) and wives of hundreds of unpaid (or low-paid) elected civic officials will spend lonely evenings.

Normally civic heads begin drafting budgets in mid-January, as soon as the annual financial reports are out of the way.

They must have some idea of the upcoming financial picture by mid-February. Then, by

Civic Wage Deadline in April

Another pressure-point for municipal chiefs is the April 14 deadline for wage negotiations with civic employees. If these are protracted it can be mid-April before the councillors know how much must be earmarked for pay-cheques.

B.C. municipal chiefs heretofore usually have spent late April pondering an imponderable: How much total tax can local properties bear?

When that decision is reached the harsh work of budgeting really begins. The amount needed for schools and the amount needed to finance the municipal debt—both immutable—are subtracted, and the slim rest of the tax melon is apportioned to civic departments.

But the usual municipal

New Machinery Tax Another Factor

But there's another new factor—taxing of machinery for school purposes. This complicates the already complicated formula for determining municipal shares of school costs.

Time will run mighty short between the Williston Formula being formalized in law—probably early in February—and the procession of immoveable dates, set by law, which municipal budget-makers must meet.

School board discussions with municipalities must be ended by February 28; decision to arbitrate must be taken by March 5; and the arbitration proceedings must be finalized by March's end.

It may be impossible to delay the established finalization dates. To do so would squeeze schedule could be shredded in 1955.

School-cost apportionments cannot be fixed until the Williston formula becomes law some time after the Legislature convenes January 25.

Inextricably entwined with school taxes is the B.C. contribution for education. Premier Bennett has said "over-all" home taxes for schools will be lower in 1955 because more provincial dollars will go to education. But he hasn't spelled out the figures. Until he does, municipal budget-makers must work in the dark.

The premier also has hinted at a fixed mill-rate for schools, something in the nature of the 5-mill levy suggested by the late Dr. Max A. Cameron in his report, basis of B.C.'s present centralized school system.

The municipalities even more. If the civic budget deadline, May 15, were changed a whole train of unhappy circumstances could follow. Tax notices would be delayed, tax income wouldn't reach municipal treasurers in early July. Schools also could be affected. In the first half of the year, school boards depend on advance-payments from municipalities to meet their payroll.

All in all, it doesn't look like a very happy year for those citizens, who, in elective office, administer B.C. municipalities—some of them million-dollar tax-spending corporations—for an honorarium that doesn't pay for the cigarettes they'll chain-smoke while untangling 1955's tax maze.

Financial houses say "check those cheques." It's a common mistake, and a cunning one, really, to date a cheque the wrong year. ## BETWEEN TIMES

By MONTE ROBERTS

You can't tell me the city hall workers weren't working Monday.

They were at work, in spirit if not in body. Because look what I received in the mail Monday, from the collector's office (dog license division):

"Every dog harbored in the City of Victoria is required by By-law to be registered and licensed at the city hall."

"Under the City of Victoria By-law No. 2620, Section 3, a penalty is provided for a dog being harbored in the City of Victoria without having been registered or having a license."

"If you harbor a dog and have not complied with the above-mentioned By-law, please do so at once."

"Please inform me if you do not now keep a dog. Phone 4-7111." T. G. Harris, collector.

Unless I misunderstand the matter, By-law No. 2620 is against harboring a dog, or dogs.

So am I.

I have never harbored a dog against its will, and as far as my present dog is concerned, she is too big to harbor unless she feels like being harbored.

I will admit the dog before the present dog was once harbored against his will, but it was not my doing. He slipped off a greasy floor while we were visiting Max Lohrman on his boat in the Inner Harbor, so you might call this an involuntary self-harboring, not to be interpreted as a deliberate infraction of By-law No. 2620.

I guess, then, it is possible for By-law 2620 and I to get along in peaceful co-existence, if not downright friendship.

But I must say, I don't like Mr. Harris' attitude. I was all set to telephone Mr. Harris and tell him how heartily I agree with By-law 2620's attitude toward dog-harboring, when I re-read the final sentence in his message: "Please inform me if you do not now keep a dog. Phone 4-7111."

Obviously, Mr. Harris wishes to receive phone calls only from persons who do not now keep a dog, and I do not fall into that category.

Well, Mr. Harris, if ever I do not now keep a dog, I will certainly phone you.

Meanwhile, I'd like you to know my present dog doesn't have to pay poll tax.

She isn't that kind of a dog.

DROODLES

When I showed this Doodle to my cowboy friend, Montana Tex, he had only one word to say: "Draw!" But Montana Tex was only kidding because since his oil wells came in he has a caddy to carry his gun. Cowboys today are sure different from the real old time cowboys like Gregory Peck and Alan Ladd. They spend all their time loading up their gun belts with guitar picks and trying to get Walter Winchell to plug their latest song hits instead of branding helpers or ropin' mavericks. Give me the old days when if a Texan said "Old Paint!" he meant his horse instead of the finish on his '54 Cadillac—and a "Necktie Party" didn't mean Christmas Eve in the bunkhouse.

Today's 'DC Day'—Deadline for Outdated Calendars

By TONY DICKASON

This is the last day under the ancient Treaty of Eupodia in which you are allowed to date letters 1954, without avoiding a sound knuckle thrashing.

The treaty was signed by various wise men about Caesar's time. It was he who invented our calendar, and of course wanted to see it perpetuated, somewhat.

Up to and including Jan. 4 it was allowable to sign "1954" to writings by paralytic crotchets, school children, corporation lawyers and industrial brass hats. Down the line, secretaries were forced to forego using "1954" Jan. 3; clerks Jan. 2—and woe to the office boy if he made a mistake a second after 1955 stumbled in.

Further research at this point shows paralytic crotchets can't write anyway, so we can forget them. School kids, muddled about when 1954 and 'a that happened, plus dates for everything which can be found in books regardless, can be tolerated in the mistake up to a point. But teachers, if they can remember, try to straighten out the interesting and entertaining little minds as soon in the new year as possible.

In the realm of high finance all should be bright and glistering, like burnished gold.

The errors in dates this time of year gives rise to the terrifying thought that these people—handling important affairs down deep probably don't even realize that this is the Cantonese Year of the Addle-Pated Carp, a fact so well known it is a bore to students of Oriental lore. In some areas it's a bore to non-students as well.

Remember, if you don't know—the year's deductive reasoning places you in the category of not being able to tell the time. You'll never be a clock-punching night warehouse patroller, and thus miss all sorts of apt phrases during your lifetime such as: "Watchman, what of the night?"

One school of sub-thought believes dating 1955 letters and things with the year 1954 is only a traumatic link with a hangover from December 31 of course. Or spiritualized wish-fulfillment.

(Pardon, there's some newly arrived mail here... just a second.)

A terse note from a gigantic corporation to hand, demanding money. Hope they take a tolerant view or we shall be forced to answer in the same year, namely, 1954.

Scuffs Make Leisure Hours Relaxed Comfort

By PENNY SAVER

Dragons, peacocks, delicate Chinese scenes . . . they're all depicted on the gorgeous scuffs I saw this morning. In velvet or satin, they come in green, red, blue or black. For satin, $1.39; velvet, $1.75. If you want an added touch of luxury, how about those with the white fur trim? They're only $1.98!

For you women with a size 6 foot, here's a real buy. A broken line of closed-in slippers, in satin, with truly vivid and attractive designs. They're 98 cents! Really! They're as comfortable as can be, and for this price, you can afford two pair.

Tiny silver charms that can be used for earrings are a real bargain. For 98 cents you can pick up a pair of miniature chairs, sampan, shoes, Chinese lanterns, baskets or any little animal. In shiny, shiny silver, they make wonderful complements for dark outfits. Made of the same metal is a wigly fish about two inches long. It's a pin but earrings can be bought to match . . . also 98 cents.

Here's an opportunity to stock up on sets of your favorite coasters. Grass-weave in natural bamboo color they are sitting in a bamboo "chair" and measure about three inches across. Sixty-nine cents for a set of six . . . very reasonable. Isn't it!

Black lacquer coasters at 69 cents each, and matching dishes at the same price are featured.

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Reader Has Real Joy In Life After Marathon

Only those women who have stuck to a daily routine for long enough to give it a chance, know what a great difference it can make, and in a short time, in appearance and personality and a sense of well being.

From long experience in teaching personally, and from the hundreds of thousands of letters I have received from readers of "Why Grow Old?" for the past 18 years, I know what wonderful and happy effects physical improvement can have on personality, on mental outlook, on emotional stability—on happiness!

Let me quote from a letter which is similar to so very many I have received from readers. This is part of a letter from a woman who followed my eight-week self-improvement marathon last year.

She says, "I had just been going along pretending that I didn't care! Looking back, I can see that now. Now I can face it! I had gained 20 pounds in 10 years and I was not underweight to start with."

"When I look back from the safe and happy vantage point of having lost my extra weight, I can see vividly how greatly it had affected my personality and my whole approach to life. "Thank heavens, I have a husband who is and was in love with me, which is a fine ego builder, because, when I look back, I realize that I must have had something special for him, beside a lovely figure, which I had when we were married and then lost."

"I did not want to meet new people. I gave up the sports which I had enjoyed and now enjoy. I even avoided dancing which I loved, because I was so overweight. The clothes I bought were selected, not because of my natural choice but because of my weight. I really am a new woman! While my husband loved me always, he is so happy and proud of me now."

Even knowing, as well as I do, the correlation between physical attractiveness and well being and personality, and emotional stability, I have never before included personality development in marathon. It just had to follow. And it always did!

However, I thought it would be fun this year and helpful to marathon entrants to work on personality development along with physical improvement. Therefore the new marathon booklet for this year has a personality development chart on which you can grade yourself each day.

If you would like to have my marathon booklet which will help you lose up to 20 pounds in just eight weeks, or gain weight, distribute your weight more attractively, show you how to find out what you need to do, with the self-analysis department, send 10 cents and a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request to Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper.

Point-No-Point Honeymoon; Future Home in San Francisco

Vows were exchanged recently in Christ Church Cathedral by Rosalie Alma, youngest daughter of Mrs. Cheeseman, 1031 Chamberlain Street, and the late Dr. George A. Cheeseman, and Terence John, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Gower, 751 Canterbury Road. Dean P. R. Beattie conducted the marriage ceremony. Lohengrin's wedding march was played by organist, Graham Steed.

The bride entered the church on the arm of her brother-in-law, Carl Munich, who gave her in marriage. She wore an afternoon length dusky rose tulle gown designed on princess style with an Elizabethan collar and a small feathered hat on one side. A crescent bouquet of Rapture roses and stephanotis completed her costume.

Mrs. Carl Munich, matron of honor for her sister, was attired in a midnight blue brocade tulle gown worn with a winter white hat trimmed with blue feathers to match her dress. She carried a Colonial bouquet of white and yellow chrysanthemums. The best man was John A. Di Castri, and Peter Townsend and Gordon Inglis acted as ushers.

At a reception, held at Little Harbour, a buffet lunch was served. The couple were assisted in welcoming guests by Mrs. Cheeseman, wearing a navy and white dress complemented by a winter white hat and feathered white chrysanthemum corsage, and by Mrs. Gower, in a saxe blue gown with pink hat, with corsage of rapture roses.

Joseph Speakman, Vancouver, a friend of the family, proposed the toast to the bride. The couple left for a short honeymoon to Point-No-Point. Mrs. Gower's traveling outfit was a grey dressmaker suit complemented by a small lime green hat and the groom's gift, a fur stole.

Future home of the young couple will be San Francisco, Calif. Among out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. J. Speakman and Dr. Niall Downy of Vancouver.

Orinoco Stewardess Would Like More Women on Ships

VANCOUVER (CP) — Miss Evelyn Tonnesen, who went to sea from her Arendal, Norway, home two years ago, has visited almost every port in the world. When she signed on as stewardess of the Norwegian passenger-freighter Orinoco, she planned to make one short voyage, but enjoyed the experience so much she remained on the job. The blonde, blue-eyed stewardess said in an interview here: "It's an education. It's good for a young person to get away from home and see other countries. We can do this work so much better than men, and we meet such interesting people all the time."

Capt. Jacob Wold, skipper of the Orinoco, is a bit doubtful, however, about women working on the ship. "I had a woman wireless operator on one of my ships—hopeless," he recalled.

Baby Girl Is Named

Sharon Rose were the names given the youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robin Justice, Swan Street at a ceremony in St. Mark's Church last Sunday, Rev. Robert Willis officiated. Godparents are Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Pigott. The baby wore a christening robe made by her maternal great-grandmother. A tea followed at the parents' home at which members of the immediate family gathered. A pink and white christening cake was centred on a table covered with a lace-edged cloth, and flanked by pink candles in silver holders. The baby's maternal grandfather, Arthur Attwell, proposed the toast.

Young Nurses From B.C. on Junket In Europe Now Shopping for Taxi

LONDON (CP)—Four wandering British Columbia nurses, their tired feet up after helping stem the Christmas rush in a London department store, are planning another trip. The quartet is shopping for an old-taxi to launch a tour of Europe for three or four months.

The travellers are Pat McAndrew, 24, of Powell River; Barbara Thompson, 22, and Diana Crane, 24, of Vancouver, and Sheila Twentyman, 23, of Nelson.

The girls became registered nurses, worked for seven months at hospitals close to their homes and saved enough to sail to Britain last September.

Two weeks' fruitless flat-hunting in London sent them to Scotland for a week's sightseeing by bicycle. The girls returned to London in November to cash in on Christmas work in a department store. They soon found a flat in Kensington.

"I don't know how British girls manage to live on their salaries," said Miss McAndrew in an interview. The store paid £5 10s a week and the nurses found it just covered their living expenses.

MAY SPLIT UP

The girls spent Christmas in their London flat with Mrs. Twentyman, also on holiday, presiding over the cooking. They plan to leave for Europe late in January or early in February and reach Austria while the skiing is still in season. They intend to return here in late summer and may then split up.

Miss Crane became engaged to Jim McNish, a Vancouver Athlete scholar studying engineering in Rugby, while in Britain, and may stay awhile. Miss McAndrew is hoping for a few weeks' work after the trip. She has applied for a relief nursing job in an RCAF hospital in France or Germany.

The girls thoroughly enjoyed the experience in a British store. "Our biggest headache was the money," said Miss McAndrew with a grin. "It took ages to work out the change."

Pat was in leather goods, Miss Twentyman traded in buttons and Miss Crane in Christmas cards.

Their verdict: "British customers are much the same as those back home." Even at the worst of the Christmas rush, Lord and Lady Lovat overlook customers were mostly polite. Their biggest thrill to date, Firth.

Just as you're about to shampoo your hair, put your combs and brushes, and your husband's too, in the sink with soap flakes and ammonia and hot water. When you're done with your hair, all they'll need is a scrub and a rinse and they're clean.

Old Sailor Beef Stew Tender In 90 Minutes

The day made funny in the movies arrives: Baby grabs a big handful of mucky cereal and smears it on the table, himself or you. Try to relax. Soon he will discover that he can lick his fingers, and that means the beginning of the end of your shoveling-it-in days.

Bringing Up Baby

Hints Collected by Mrs. Dan Gerber (Mother of 5)
Resolved (by any number of wise new mothers contemplating the New Year): "I will arrange to spend a certain amount of time every day enjoying my baby... knowing it will do both of us more good than rearranging the linen closet. I'll also remember to reserve some special recreation time with dad, once a week or so." Refreshed parents are better parents.

Feeding point! There are good reasons why so many doctors suggest Gerber's Cereals as "starters". For Gerber's Cereals are fortified with the iron, calcium and B-Vitamins babies need a few weeks after birth. They're well-known for their good-tasting texture... the creamy smooth consistency preferred by babies used to a liquid-only diet. Five mild, pleasing flavors for variety: Rice, Barley, Oatmeal, Wheat, and Mixed Cereal.

Nightie note. Excessive ironing flattens the nap on little flannel nighties. Brushing after drying keeps 'em soft, fluffy, new looking. And what mother can't use the time saved from the ironing board?

Progress report. As baby advances to more and more varieties of solid food, you can chalk up a lot of contented coos by serving Gerber's Strained Foods. Each one is famous for its inviting true color, and smooth-on-the-tongue texture. All are specially processed for high retention of wholesome food values. And look at the grand Gerber choice: 7 vegetables, 9 fruits, 3 dinners, 4 desserts, 6 all-meat products.

Free! More on meal appeal. Gerber's helpful booklet, "Foods for Baby and Mealtime Psychology". For your copy, just write Mrs. Dan Gerber, Box 68, Toronto 18, Canada.

NEWSPAPER ADVERTISING STIMULATES BUYING

Many years ago Swedish sailors had a beef stew worthy of attention. The succulent dish was simple to prepare. A chunk of beef was sliced thin and browned in fat. Onions and potatoes were added, also a good measure of spices. The whole simmered long hours over the glowing coals. Those sailors were in no hurry. While the pot brewed, tales were told as the aroma of the stew mingled with the scent of the smoke of the fire.

Ann Williams-Heller, a noted European food expert, picked up the sea-going recipe on her travels. The original recipe took hours to cook. But Miss Williams-Heller, home economics consultant, has cut the time to 90 minutes using the original ingredients. To do this she uses a Dutch oven of stainless steel with aluminum clad bottom and tight-fitting cover.

OLD SAILOR'S BEEF STEW
Have butcher cut two pounds beef (chuck or round) in 1/2-inch slices. Wipe meat with damp cloth; pound well. Melt 2 tablespoons butter or margarine in 5-quart Dutch oven; brown meat on all sides (about 10 minutes). Meanwhile, blend 1 tablespoon salt with 1 small (crushed) bay leaf, 1/4 teaspoon each of white and black pepper, 1/4 teaspoon each of marjoram, red paprika, ground allspice and nutmeg. Slice 2 pounds peeled potatoes in 1/2-inch slices. Slice 1 1/2 pounds onions.

Place potatoes and onions in alternate layers over meat, sprinkling each layer with spice mixture. Barely cover with boiling water or soup stock (about 1/2 cup). Simmer—dome covered—over very low heat for 1 1/4 hours or until meat is tender. Sprinkle with chopped parsley before serving directly from cooker.—Serves 4 to 6.

On most things there's no need to hurry baby, but you should make an effort to be sure baby eats some kind of food with lumps before he's a year old. If he munches up big bites of crackers, this will do. Smooth food too long will make him gag when he does come to lumps.

AS WE LIVE

Mother-in-Law Fears Guests Don't Want Her

By ELIZABETH B. HURLOCK, PhD

Many older people feel they are not welcome in gatherings of younger people. Should this elderly woman withdraw and live a lonely life?

(Q)—"I have just read your column about the mother-in-law who chatters constantly and tries to monopolize the conversation when her son and his wife have guests. I am in much the same boat as that mother-in-law, but I do not think I am a chatter. However, we never can see ourselves as others see us. My daughter-in-law is very good to me and always insists that I come down stairs when they have guests. But now I wonder if I am doing the right thing. I enjoy being with people and am lonely if I sit up in my own room when I know there is company around. I don't want the young people to think I am a bore, though. I don't want my daughter-in-law to feel that she must invite me down if she knows it will spoil the fun of her guests."

(A)—I think you would be very foolish to apply what another woman said about her mother-in-law to your own case unless you know it really applies. You know better than I do whether you chatter or try to monopolize the conversation.

So long as your daughter-in-law insists that you be around when there is company, I think you would be very foolish to sit upstairs alone and wish you were with the guests. By all means go down and enjoy yourself.

You could guarantee that you would be welcome if you volunteered to take charge of the refreshments so that your daughter-in-law could be free to be with her guests. When you know company is coming, why not ask her if she would like you to make some cake, cookies, or sandwiches. I am sure she would be only too glad to have your help.

Then, when the guests are present, be in and out of the room. Chat with them all after they arrive, disappear into the kitchen to prepare the refreshments, and then come out again when they are served. If you do this, you will enjoy the evening and run no risk at all of boring anyone or feeling that you are in the way.

As a special service to our readers, Dr. Hurlock has written a 64-page booklet, "You and Your Problems." For your copy send 15 cents in coin with a self-addressed stamped envelope to this newspaper.

School Board Reduces Auditorium Rental Fee for Election Meetings

School auditoriums will be available for municipal election meetings once a year in future at a reduced rental of $15.

Greater Victoria School Board reached that decision Tuesday night following receipt of a letter from Saanich municipal clerk, J. B. Tribe, objecting to a $45 charge for a Dec. 8 meeting.

Don't Trust To Luck

That First $5,000

Chapter 2

It has been said that money is the root of all evil. That is nonsense. If it is sometimes made the servant of a wicked purpose, then the master and not the servant is to blame.

I am sometimes regarded as the apostle of pure materialism. The description is false. Humbly do I recognize the existence of values other than money values. Even so, I have never noticed that the creator of an artistic achievement becomes downcast if it also proves to be financial success.

The maker of money has become unjustifiably suspect in recent times, not least in the eyes of men and women who would make money if they could.

MUCH HYPOCRISY

To win a sweepstake or a big dividend on the pools is considered justified, but to amass a fortune by hard work which creates opportunities of life and happiness for thousands is considered wicked by silly politicians and foolish journalists. There is a lot of hypocrisy!

talked and written about money. In reality money carries with it only two qualities of value: the character it creates in the making; the self-expression of the individuality in the use of it, once it has been made.

The art of making money implies all those qualities—resolution, concentration, economy, self-control—which make for happiness and success. The power of using it makes a man who has become the captain of his own soul in the process of its acquisition, also the master of the circumstances which surround him. He can shape his immediate world to his own liking.

Apart from these two qualities, character in acquisition, power in use, money has little value, and is just as likely to be a curse as a blessing. (Continued on Page 2)

FATHER TESTIFIES

Duncan Tragedy Told to Jury

DUNCAN, B.C. (CP)—The father of an 18-year-old boy found dead in the woods testified at a coroner's inquest Tuesday that his son had been depressed for some days.

He said he had told his son New Year's Day that if he did not improve he would have to get out.

Lawrence Meyer said his son Larry would get up in the morning with a sour face and nothing could be done with him. He stated his son was "overly smart—well up in school work, prominent in cadet work and popular with his friends."

But he had been moody and depressed, "so much so that I was always after him."

Donna DeMille, 14-year-old girl friend of the youth, testified Larry came to her home about 11 a.m. New Year's Day and gave her a note, with instructions not to read it until after breakfast.

She said he "was white as a ghost."

The note, read by Constable Kenneth Sutherland, said: "Donna, I love you. By the time you read this I will be dead. We'll meet there sometime."

He enclosed a repair ticket, along with a $10 bill, and asked Donna to get his watch and keep it "for the rest of your life to remember me by, darling."

In the note, the youth also made his will, leaving everything to Donna.

The jury verdict was "that Larry Meyer died of self-inflicted injuries—from a 16-gauge shotgun."

80% GROCERY STORES POLLED FAVOR BEER

VANCOUVER (CP)—More than 80 per cent of some 320 British Columbia grocery store operators polled to date by the Retail Merchants' Association are in favor of selling beer and wine in their stores. The association reported today that of 320 grocers polled, 264 or 82.5 per cent are in favor.

Victoria grocers are 75 per cent in favor, and Vancouver food store operators 91 per cent.

Union, Govt. Hit in U.K. Rail Dispute

3-Man Court Urges Fair, Adequate Wage

LONDON (UP)—A three-man "court of inquiry" today urged the government to pay workers on its nationalized railways a "fair and adequate" wage.

The government-appointed board "also urged the union to call off its walkout of 400,000 men scheduled for midnight Sunday—and resume negotiations in an atmosphere free from the menace of strike action."

Both the rail union and the government transport commission were criticized by the report. The court said the union "acted improperly" in breaking off wage talks in the first place.

It also said the commission "erred" in claiming it couldn't pay a wage boost because Britain's government-owned rail lines are required by law to break even.

If the government wants to run the railroads it must pay the railwaymen a "fair and adequate" wage, the report said. The railwaymen claim their pay lags behind workers in other industries.

Labor Minister Sir Walter Monckton called the heads of the National Union of Railwaymen and the Transport Commission to meetings in an effort to get negotiations resumed.

Jim Campbell, chief of the railway union, said the board issued a "good report" and hinted the strike may be called off if the government follows through on the recommendations.

In effect, the report threw the railway wage problem into the lap of Prime Minister Winston Churchill's government which may now have to decide whether to subsidize the railroads. The court completed its report 24 hours ahead of schedule, giving the government four full days to head off the strike.

Hit-Run Victim

CLEARBROOK, B.C. (CP)—Kurt Tonn, 13, was killed when struck by a car or truck Tuesday night on a highway near his home. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Tonn, found his crumpled body on the road.

Ford Strike Talks Adjourned; Little Progress

TORONTO (CP)—Talks aimed at settling the long Ford of Canada strike were adjourned for two days Tuesday and little progress was reported.

Emil Mazey, international secretary-treasurer of United Automobile Workers (CIO-CFL), said the two parties were "still a long way from reaching settlement."

The strike now is in its 87th day.

Both parties agreed to the adjournment to permit Mr. Mazey to attend a regular executive board meeting of the international union in Detroit. Negotiations will resume Friday afternoon and may continue during the week-end.

BOYS' BOAT WAS HIT BY VESSEL SAYS RCMP

VANCOUVER (CP)—The 14-foot boat which carried four Vancouver boys to their deaths last week was almost certainly hit by a bigger vessel, the RCMP reported today. Tests on red paint found on wreckage of the boat washed ashore in North Burnaby showed it was marine anti-fouling paint. This is used on ships but rarely on shoreline installations.

The boys, Donald MacLeod, and his brother Ian; Wally Wittwer and Joe Toth, left here on a camping trip Dec. 26. The wrecked boat was found three days later.

The boys were on their way to Indian River, 18 miles northeast of here.

Hammaraskjold Dines With Chou En Lai

TOKYO (CP)—Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjold of the United Nations, seeking freedom for 11 American airmen and other UN prisoners of Red China, dined privately tonight with Chou En-lai, premier and foreign minister, and Vice-Foreign Minister Chang Han-fu, Peiping radio said.

Communist broadcasts heard in Tokyo reported only sketchy details of the UN chief's arrival this afternoon and male p.m. Peiping time. The Swedish UN chief and Chou met in which was prompted by an overwhelming General Assembly vote. A Chinese-language broadcast said the Swedish statesman was entertained at a cocktail party and later went to a dinner for three—himself, Chou and Chang.

Chou, Chang and other Chinese government officials and foreign diplomats attended the cocktail party, Peiping said.

The Chinese government plane carrying Hammarskjold and his party landed at 1:53 p.m. Peiping time. The Swedish UN chief and Chou met in which was prompted by an

Adenauer Leaves Milk for Children Toasts Own 79th Birthday in Wine

BONN, Germany (UP)—Chancellor Konrad Adenauer, a life-long wine-drinking Rhineland, toasted his 79th birthday in sherry today and turned over to his grandchildren a gift of milk from his own agriculture ministry.

Congratulations and gifts from leaders of all the free world poured in for West Germany's "grand old man."

Britain's Prime Minister Winston Churchill, who celebrated his own 80th birthday recently; Foreign Secretary Sir Anthony Eden, U.S. Secretary of State John Foster Dulles, Francis Cardinal Spellman of New York, French Premier Pierre Mendes-France and other world figures heaped praise and good wishes on the man who steered defeated Germany into the ranks of free world Allies.

Beaming and in good spirits, "Der Alte" (the Old Man), as he is known to his countrymen, held court for nearly four hours at the chancellery filled high with gifts and masses of flowers. But he brushed aside good-humoredly an attempt by one of his own ministers to manoeuvre the chancellor into the ranks of milk drinkers like Mendes-France.

Vancouver's Unemployed Hits 25,837

VANCOUVER (CP)—Vancouver's jobless total climbed to 25,837 on Dec. 30, an increase of 498 over the same day in 1953, the National Employment Service reported today. The total included 21,000 men and 4,837 women.

Leaders of business and industry will meet with the Vancouver Board of Trade today to work out a program aimed at combating the unemployment situation in the province.

The management representatives will draw up a comprehensive report of industrial conditions to be presented to Labor Minister Wicks.

In earlier conferences with the minister, special committees were set up to discuss the jobless situation in each of the province's major industries.

Trades and Labor Council Tuesday night rejected a mass meeting of the city's unemployed on the grounds that it could serve no useful purpose.

The meeting was proposed by the Electrical Workers' Union, but the 70 delegates to the TLC meet rejected it after only one objection from the floor.

Proposes To Build Columbia River Dam With Public Funds

CASTLEGAR, B.C. (CP)—B.C. government now is considering a new proposal for a $30,000,000 storage dam on the Arrow Lake system under which B.C. would build the dam and receive an extra $600,000 cash return in addition to the 43,000 kilowatts and $135,000 in taxes and rentals previously agreed upon, Lands Minister Robert Sommers told a public meeting Tuesday night.

Since the Kaiser Aluminum and Chemical Corp. appear unable to finance the dam at less than 7.5 per cent and the B.C. Government could do it for 4.1 per cent, he said, the new proposal is for the provincial government to undertake construction and receive extra returns from Kaiser.

The company seeks water storage to increase production of power at American hydro stations during low flow periods on the Columbia.

Province Would Own Dam

Under the new proposal, B.C. would receive not less than $2,000,000 a year in power and cash for 50 years, Mr. Sommers said. The province would own the dam but the Kaiser interests would pay taxes on it at prevailing rates.

Mr. Sommers told a capacity audience that disposition of natural resources, including water power, falls wholly and solely under the jurisdiction of the province and the B.C. Government will fight for its rights in the Kaiser deal.

He said many seem to be opposed to the construction of the dam because it will benefit the U.S. as well as B.C.

Such an attitude could lead to retaliatory measures by the U.S. and bring B.C. economy to a standstill since the U.S. is B.C.'s best customer.

He repeated previous statements that the proposed dam would not in any way detract from any other development on the Columbia but would merely put to use water which would flow downstream anyway.

No Decision on Water Level

He said no decision has been reached yet on how high the water will be raised by the dam, but it is the government's intention that it will not be above the normal high water mark.

The Kaiser interests will be required to compensate for any "economic value disturbed," including rebuilding of flooded beaches, but such disturbance will be kept to a minimum by filling the storage basin at the latest possible date.

Mr. Sommers discussed briefly the working plan of the Celgar Development Co. for a forest management license in the Arrow Lakes area, expressing the hope that this development "will come to fruition shortly."

He said there has been no decision on the company's working plan yet but discussions are to be held shortly, possibly next week.

Regarding the choice of a route for a Cascade-Columbia River highway connection, Mr. Sommers reported no decision yet.

"The final route will be chosen entirely on the basis of economic factors involved," he said.

New Plan Expected to Get Cool Reception in Ottawa

By TOM GOULD, Times Legislative Reporter

Although no immediate reaction is available from federal government officials, observers here feel Lands Minister Sommers' new proposal for a government-constructed dam at Castlegar Narrows will receive the same cool reception in Ottawa as the original proposal.

Ottawa has announced legislation will be introduced at the spring session of the Commons to block the Kaiser deal. It is expected the legislation will also bear on the new proposal.

The federal government has control over international water flow, through pipelines or conduits. This control will be broadened to cover regulated water flow through streambeds.

Ottawa objected to the Kaiser deal on grounds it interfered with long-range development of the Columbia River water, and did not give B.C. sufficient returns for the power generated.

Most recent evidence of Ottawa's views on Columbia River power-development was the announcement two weeks ago an investigation will be carried out this summer into the economic feasibility of diverting Columbia water to the Fraser River system.

Resources Minister Jean Lesage said several billion kilowatt hours of additional power could be produced annually by a Columbia-to-Fraser diversion. The gigantic development under study would force Columbia water, at the "Big Bend," where the northwest-flowing river turns south to the U.S. into Summit Lake.

Mr. Lesage said waste waters of the Columbia could be used to "firm up" potential storage areas on the Thompson and Fraser.

He said maximum development of power sites along these rivers will be possible only through the use of water diverted from the Columbia.

B.C. officials said the proposal, if found feasible, would probably have an important effect on any development on Lower Arrow Lakes such as the Kaiser dam.

From there the Columbia water would travel down the Eagle and South Thompson Rivers to the Fraser. Hydro-power would be generated at sites on the Thompson and Fraser.

B.C. officials said they welcomed the federal study as a means of determining the most efficient way of utilizing the province's abundant power potential.

But there are some doubts, they said. Mr. Lesage said "The Fraser River salmon industry will be protected." Officials here said they do not have sufficient information on the Ottawa plan to see how this could be accomplished.

The federal announcement did not mention the power sites on the Fraser and Thompson Rivers which are to be examined.

MINISTER TELLS TRAIL GRANTS WILL CONTINUE

NELSON (CP)—Wesley D. Black, minister of municipal affairs, said in a telephone conversation from Victoria with Mayor Joseph Kary that he knew of no government plan to do away with the motor vehicle grant to municipalities.

Civic officials, worried by a statement by Mayor E. C. Fletcher of Trail that the grant would be discontinued, decided to phone the minister. The city receives about $16,000.

Mayor Fletcher said that the provincial government licenses grant to municipalities would be discontinued. Trail council has drawn up a resolution protesting the move to be presented to an executive meeting of the UBCM Jan. 7.

Government May Discontinue Gulf Islands Ferry Subsidy

Public Works Minister P. A. Gagliardi is considering withdrawal of a $36,000 annual subsidy for ferry service to the Gulf Islands.

The subsidy, $24,000 a year at present, with a $12,000 increase when Crofton-Vesuvius Bay service is started, "may be withdrawn" Mr. Gagliardi said. "All experts have recommended a non-subsidized service for the Gulf Islands," he said.

Coast Ferries Ltd., which operates the non-subsidized Lady Rose, has threatened to withdraw the ship unless "loss factors," including the subsidized Cy Peck, are withdrawn.

If the loss factors are withdrawn, the firm has proposed putting a new $250,000 vessel on the run.

Sellers Flood Stock Markets; Prices Pounded

Toronto, New York
Decline Sharply

TORONTO (CP)—A sharp selling wave hit the stock market today and prices suffered their greatest declines in months.

Selling waves pounded all sections of the market down in the final half-hour and almost 1,500,000 shares were traded in the last 30-minute period.

Losses in industrials were as great as $3. Ford A. General Dynamics, Aluminum, Minnesota & Ontario Paper and MacLaren Paper showed the greatest drops.

Among mines Falconbridge, International Nickel and Noranda each fell about $1.

NEW YORK BREAKS

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market broke today under a flood of selling.

Orders to sell poured into the market from all over the U.S. with such intensity that the high-speed ticker fell as much as 15 minutes behind near the close in reporting actual floor transactions.

The break came on the heels of higher margin requirements ordered by the federal reserve board in Washington.

The board now requires a minimum of 60 per cent cash on all new purchases of securities. The limit before was 50 per cent. The increase was regarded as a warning to Wall Street over the speed of the current stock market boom. (See Page 25 for latest stock quotations.)

Labor 'Deplores'

VANCOUVER (CP)—The Vancouver Trades and Labor Council has gone on record as "deploring" the stand taken by Victoria and Vancouver boards of trade against the government's decision giving civil servants a holiday on the Monday after New Year's Day.

Alleged Slayer Talked to Girl Many Times, City Boy Testifies

From BUP and CP Dispatches
NEW WESTMINSTER (BUP)—A fellow circus worker of Lawrence Vincent, charged with the murder of a 12-year-old girl, testified today he saw the accused and the victim talking together several times before the girl was slain.

Charles Jackson, 16, of Victoria, testified he worked in the same carnival as the 28-year-old accused at Queens, B.C., in 1953 when Donna Lee Corbett was strangled to death with a shoe lace.

After more than a dozen witnesses had paraded to the stand in the second day of Vincent's retrial, Jackson said he saw Vincent in the company of the girl several times and said he had once interrupted them while they were talking. He said Vincent later hawled him out because the accused was "trying to make a date" with the girl at the time.

Vincent was convicted last June of the girl's murder, but the Court of Appeal ordered a new trial.

GIRL TESTIFIES

Fifteen-year-old Sharon Patricia Bourne told the court how she and Donna rode a horse to a carnival near their home in Quesnel on Sept. 10, 1953. She said they had met the suspect when he offered the girls passes to the carnival if they would let him ride the horse. He took his ride, said the girl, and gave them the passes.

Later in the day when the girls saw Vincent again he offered to drive them home because it wasn't safe to "go home alone."

"He offered us more passes and later gave us each 25 cents instead of the passes." They went home alone.

The girls went to the carnival the following day, and the Bourne girl got a job in a candy booth. She couldn't find the Corbett girl, who was found strangled with a shoe lace four days later.

80% GROCERY STORES POLLED FAVOR BEER
VANCOUVER (CPL)—More than 80 per cent of some 320 British Columbia grocery store operators polled to date by the Retail Merchants' Association are in favor of selling beer and wine in their stores.

Victoria grocers are 75 per cent in favor, and Vancouver food store operators 91 per cent.

In a Victoria Times survey Tuesday only one petition was found in a grocery store in the Greater Victoria area.

RCMP Make Report On B.C. Tragedy

VANCOUVER (CP)—The 14-foot boat which carried four Vancouver boys to their deaths last week was almost certainly hit by a bigger vessel, the RCMP reported today.

Tests on red paint found on wreckage of the boat washed ashore in North Burnaby showed it was marine anti-fouling paint. This is used on ships but rarely on shoreline installations.

The boys, Donald MacLeod and his brother Ian; Wally Wittwer and Joe Toth, left here on a camping trip Dec. 26. The wrecked boat was found three days later.

The boys were on their way to Indian River, 18 miles north-east of here.

A check of shipping has shown that no vessels moved through Second Narrows in continued today.

Burrard Inlet in the period of the sinking.

One theory is that the boat was damaged before it got through Second Narrows.

ANOTHER THEORY
Ships at the grain terminals often turn their propeller over to take the strain off the moorings during heavy tides. The boys' boat might have been drawn in to the stern of such a vessel. The wreckage could then have drifted up the inlet to the spot where it was found.

The RCMP investigation continued today.

B.C. Would Build Dam With Public Funds

Lands Minister Sommers Announces New Plans for Columbia River Project

CASTLEGAR, B.C. (CP)—B.C. government now is considering a new proposal for a $30,000,000 storage dam on the Arrow Lake system under which B.C. would build the dam and receive an extra $600,000 cash return in addition to the 43,000 kilowatts and $135,000 in taxes and rentals previously agreed upon, Lands Minister Robert Sommers told a public meeting Tuesday night.

Since the Kaiser Aluminum and Chemical Corp. appear unable to finance the dam at less than 7.5 per cent and the B.C. Government could do it for 4.1 per cent, he said, the new proposal is for the provincial government to undertake construction and receive extra returns from Kaiser.

The company seeks water storage to increase production of power at American hydro stations during low flow periods on the Columbia.

Under the new proposal, B.C. would receive not less than $2,000,000 a year in power and cash for 50 years, Mr. Sommers said. The province would own the dam but the Kaiser interests would pay taxes on it at prevailing rates.

Mr. Sommers told a capacity audience that disposition of natural resources, including water power, falls wholly and solely under the jurisdiction of the province and the B.C. Government will fight for its rights in the Kaiser deal.

He said many seem to be opposed to the plan.

Chapter 2

It has been said that money is the root of all evil. That is nonsense. If it is sometimes made the servant of a wicked purpose, then the master and not the servant is to blame.

I am sometimes regarded as the apostle of pure materialism. The description is false. Humbly do I recognize the existence of values other than money values. Even so, I have never noticed that the creator of an artistic achievement becomes downcast if it also proves to be financial success.

The maker of money has become unjustifiably suspect in recent times, not least in the eyes of men and women who would make money if they could.

MUCH HYPOCRISY
To win a sweepstake or a big dividend on the pools is considered justified, but to amass a fortune by hard work which creates opportunities of life and happiness for thousands is considered wicked by silly politicians and foolish journalists. There is a lot of hypocrisy.

Apart from these two qualities, character in requirement, power in use, money has little value, and is just as likely to be a curse as a blessing.
